Heeney Should Go to Bout in Captive Balloon—Rogers

(Special To The News)

BOSTON, July 25.—It looks like this state of Massachusetts is going for Smith. If it does it will be a blow against Harvard's English department.

They are becoming discouraged anyway. Our English is getting worse than our habits.

Tunney is going to fly to the fight. Just before every fight Gene flies there. He would be a great booster for aviation, if he fought often enough. He does that to disconcert the other fellow.

The left hand of Gene's will disconcert Heeney more than even Lindbergh's flight did. I told Heeney he should go to the fight in a captive balloon.

Good luck to you Graham McNamee, and here's hoping you don't have static.

Yours,

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Sort of looks like olden times are doing a come back. Last night there was a great amount of interest shown in the race at Cincinnati, on the Ohio river, between two river packets on the lines that were common 25 years ago, and the grangers in our own community have made arrangements for an old time ox roast barbecue at the Audley Boak farm on August 3.

C. W. Covert, local barber, who has returned from a four months' tour of many states of the union, as far as the Pacific coast, reiterates the same idea that many another New Castleite has brought back after a long tour—New Castle is a mighty fine place after all. Conditions here are on a par with the best of them, the city offers many advantages not possessed by many other cities of like size and the business conditions here are good compared with other cities.

Workmen are today adding the final touches to the improvement of Mercer street, started some months ago. The new sidewalk is being laid at the Mercer and Washington street corner. The cartway was widened, but on account of of construction work at the new bank building, the widening could not be completed at this corner, at the time the work was done. Likewise the curb lighting system has been completed at this corner.

Well, July 24 made a record. No rain fell during the entire 24 hours, insofar as New Castle, Pa., is concerned.

Curb flags are flying in New Castle today. They were put out in response to an appeal by Mayor W. H. Gillespie as a tribute to the veterans who serv-in the Spanish-American war, who are having an outing today at Cascade park, and to other veterans who are joining with them in the day's program.

The new George Washington junior high school on Euclid avenue begins to take on the appearance of the finished product. Every indication is seen that the school will be ready for use when the school bells ring in the fall.

From reputable sources Pa Newc has learned that a movement is on foot to get for the city parks in all of the various wards. At the present time there is no place that mamma, papa and the children can spend a pleasant evening under the trees, on municipal ground.

And when it comes to parks, or places where parks should be, New Castle is peculiarly fortunate. There are many spots about the city which need only a few walks in them and they would be the best of parks.

In fact, we are told that at one time the landscape architect who planned Cascade felt rather sorry for himself as nature had done the work before him. So it is wtih the more promising sites. All that is needed is the expenses of the upkeep.

When drivers of trucks and pleasure cars suddenly dodge out of alleys onto the main streets, the least that they

Bodies Of Youths Found On Tracks South Of Nashua

Believe Lads Were From Cleveland, O.; Identities Not Yet Positive

MANNER OF DEATH NOT DETERMINED

Boys Either Fell From Train Or Were Walking On Tracks, Is Belief

With heads badly crushed, the bodies of two young men, aged about 16 and 18 respectively, were found lying along the Pennsylvania railroad tracks about one mile south of Nashua this morning. Papers found on the bodies by Coroner J. P. Caldwell would indicate that their names are George Buchko and Joseph Dudick.

There are several names of places in notes found among their effects, but it is believed that they were from Cleveland. One of the boys, Dudich, may be from Chagrin Falls, O. There is a card among Dudich's papers which reads as follows: "Joseph Dudich, son of Steve Dudich and Mary Kislik, was born on the 3rd day of July, 1910." It is signed Rev. Francis Howarth, rector of Sacred Heart church.

Believed Note of Trip

There is also a note scribbled on a pad which is evidently an itinerary of the trip of the young men. It says: "Started from Cleveland at two, hit Ravenna at 3:30. Waited there a while, then got a train to Struthers, O. Waited for another freight for 30 minutes, reached New Castle, Pa., 11. Walked around for a while. Got two quarts of milk and one dozen buns. Walked around a while longer and then waited for a Pullman. We waited until two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Got out and passed Pulaski at 2:30. At six we were at Sharon, and then started back."

From the note it would indicate that the boys were out on a hiking or traveling tour. Dudich had $8.25 in his pocketbook. The other boy did not have any cash.

Bodies Between Tracks

Bodies of the boys were discovered by the crew of a Pennsylvania freight train. The bodies were lying between the double tracks. The head of one boy was toward the west and the other toward the east. Both heads were crushed, but not so badly that they could not be recognized.

Pennsylvania offices in this city were notified and an ambulance

REV. DR. W. T. REYNOLDS FILES BIG SLANDER SUIT; WAS FORMERLY RECTOR HERE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A $100,000 slander suit by Rev. Dr. William T. Reynolds was on file today against Mrs. Marguerite Du Pont Lee, of the Delaware Du Ponts.

The pastor charged Mrs. Lee last February interrupted a healing service by exclaiming audibly to a friend "He's raving and carrying on up there (in the pulpit). He's drunk, I tell you."

Mrs. Lee's remarks, the suit said, damaged Rev. Reynolds' reputation as a minister and as a citizen.

The suit also alleged that Mrs. Lee at the same services denounced Mrs. Maude B. Ford by saying:

"What do you mean by allowing that woman (pointing to Mrs. Ford) to get the rector drunk?"

Mrs. Ford has sued Mrs. Lee for slander.

Mrs. Lee is a sister of Alfred I. Du Pont and a cousin of Senator Coleman Du Pont of Delaware. She had been a financial supporter of Dr. Reynolds' church, the St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal.

Rev. Dr. Reynolds was rector of Trinity Episcopal church in New Castle some years ago.

Candidate Not To "Pussyfoot" On National Prohibition Issue

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PALO ALTO, Cal., July 25.—Prohibition will be made a definite issue in the approaching Presidential campaign, with Herbert Hoover taking the dry side of the argument in his speech accepting the Republican nomination, it was learned here today on good authority.

The Republican nominee, who virtually has completed his speech, will come out strongly for enforcement of the 18th amendment and place himself on record as favoring a further test of prohibition. This will bring him into direct conflict with the known position of Governor Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic rival for the Presidency.

Prohibition will become a real issue,

Russian Aviator Tells Of Seeing Malmgren's Body

Aviator Chuchnovsky Reports To Soviet Commission On Malmgren Case

SAW THREE MEN ON BIG ICE FLOE

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 25.—The Malmgren mystery was again brought sharply to public attention today when Aviator Chuchnovsky made an official report to the Soviet relief commission repeating that he saw three figures on the ice when he located the Malmgren party on an ice floe on Tuesday night, July 10.

This report was made in response to inquiries wirelessed to the Russian ice-breaker Krassin by the Soviet relief commission which is trying to clear up the conflicting reports which were received at the time A. Mariano and F. Zappi—the two survivors of the Malmgren party—were picked up by the Krassin the day after the group had been located by the airman.

Chuchnovsky reiterated his previous declaration that he had seen three human figures on the floe. Two were alive, he said, but the third was lying prone with arms outstretched.

When the Krassin reached the floe only two men—Mariano and Zappi—were found. The erroneous report that Malmgren's body had been taken aboard the ship arose evidently from the aviator's radiogram that he had located the party and that one member was lifeless. After being revived Zappi told his rescuers that Malmgren had been left alive on the ice at Brock island at his own request because he had been unable to travel any further.

Dual Nature Puzzles

Mystery Girl Who Prefers To Live In Jail Is Fearful Of Experiences Outside, Matrons Say

Girl giving the name of Betty Hines, who is said to have a dual personality—it being declared one side of her face shows extreme cultivation and the other side a desire for a freer life.

By MATT WEINSTOCK
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Has the girl known as Miss Betty Hines, who came from Texas, been staying in jail of her own free will? Police say she is—and because of what the matrons describe as "a dual personality."

She has presented a problem to the police. Refusing to describe her real identity, but giving police the name of Betty Hines, she has declared she would rather be in jail than be forced again into a situation such as caused her arrest. She was taken into custody with a man.

Police matrons assert she has a dual personality—one side of her face showing intelligence and cultivation, and the other side, indulgence. At times she has tried to smash the furniture, they say.

In the meantime, despite her hostility to corrective measures, the girl has preferred the jail to freedom.

Find Man's Body Hanging In Barn

Mystery As To Cause Of Suicide Of Resident Of Oakland

DEATH RESULT OF STRANGULATION

Mystery surrounds the cause for the suicide of Dyzna Gaddowicz, 54, of the Oakland district, in Union township, last night. He was found dead in a barn near his home, when his wife went to look for him, after he had not returned for supper.

Mr. Gaddowicz ate dinner at his home and then disappeared.

When his wife started to hunt for him, she was horrified to find his lifeless body hanging in the barn, where he had been accustomed to visit to do some work.

The body was hanging from a staple in the door, which was not even high enough that the suicide had to drop off of a box or chair. His knees were doubled up so that the body would hang down from the staple. He had apparently strangled to death, as the noose was only about four feet from the ground.

Mrs. Gaddowicz called some neighbors, Joe Smith and Walter Perovich, who cut the body down, but life was extinct.

County Coroner J. P. Caldwell was summoned, and is investigating the case. He says there is little to give any indication as to cause for the rash act. The victim had been an employe of the Carnegie Steel mill. He is survived by his widow and five children.

May Not Execute Obregon Slayer

(International News Service)

MEXICO CITY, July 25.—Possibility that Jose De Leon Toral, slayer of President-elect Alvaro Obregon, may escape death for his deed loomed today.

Leaders of the Obregonista faction believe that Toral was only a tool in the hands of the laborites. In a public statement they demanded the removal of all laborite officials from office, saying that members of this minority party had played upon Toral's fanatical religious views in such a way as to bring on the slaying.

In the same statement they said that removal of the laborites would be true justice and that the death of the assassin was not necessary.

Meanwhile the police are still searching for Manuel Trejo, who, Toral confessed, stirred him up to kill Obregon and put the death weapon in his hand. The deposed laborite secretary of industry and commerce, Morones, is still in hiding.

Part Of Nungesser's Plane Is Believed To Be Discovered

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 25.—A portion of a wrecked airplane bearing markings similar to those upon the plane of Charles Nungesser and Framcois Coli has been discovered at Blaavand, upon the west coast of Jutland, according to a Central News dispatch from Copenhagen this afternoon.

Nungesser and Coli hopped off at Paris for New York in the plane White Bird on May 8, 1927, and were never heard of again. At first it was believed that they had been lost in the wilderness of Eastern Canada and extensive search was made for them in that region, but no trace was ever discovered. Finally they were given up for dead in the belief their plane had been forced down in the Atlantic.

Ready For One Stop Flight From Illinois Across To Stockholm

(International News Service)

ROCKFORD, Ill., July 25.—Flying and flight promotion breed philosophers. Rockford's merchant-bankers of the one-stop Hassell flight to Stockholm today consoled themselves for the adverse weather reports which postponed the take-off till tomorrow by declaring a half holiday for ceremonies attendant on the opening of a new $375,000 bridge over Rock river.

Bert "Fish" Hassell and Parker "Shorty" Cramer his co-pilot, navigator and radio operator, received weather bureau news of strong westerly headwinds over Labrador with the laconic good humor which has characterized their long months of preparation for the flight.

Covered with grease and grime they were ready for another day contendedly taping up, tuning up and oiling the broad winged Detroiter-Stinson monoplane "Greater Rockford."

Good Weather Thursday.

Weather reports for Thursday are all that could be asked. Communication has been established with Mount Evans, Greenland, where Prof. W. H. Hobbs, leader of the University of Michigan Greenland expedition is to prepare for the refuelling of the plane when it lands here. This will probably be about 24 hours after the take-off here.

They are old shipmates, these two,

PRISON BARN IS DAMAGED BY FIRE

Eastern Penitentiary Barn Burns And Convicts Aid In Battling Flames

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 25. — Fire which destroyed the main barn at the new Eastern Penitentiary, near Gratersford, and for a time menaced other buildings, was completely extinguished today following a two-hour fight last night, in which 19 convicts participated.

The 19 convicts picked as fire fighters all reported to Capt. Elmer Leitheiser, deputy warden, as soon as the fire had been brought under control. About 155 other convicts, most of them trusties, were kept in their barracks, inside the stockade, and some distance away from the burning barn. There was no disorder.

Five horses were burned to death in the fire, while about a dozen others were rescued by the convicts. The blaze is believed to have started from spontaneous combustion in the loft. The damage is about $20,000 according to Capt. Leitheiser.

French Government Orders Flight To America Postponed

Defective Motor Causes Lieutenant Paris And Companions To Defer Flight

(International News Service)

PARIS, July 25.—A defective motor has ended the trans-Atlantic flight of Lieut. Paulin Paris who came down in the harbor at Horta, the Azores, while attempting a voyage to New York.

The ministry of marine, it was learned today, ordered Lieut. Paris to cancel the flight and remain at Horta until a French warship can put into the harbor to take the seaplane Frigate on board. The plane will be brought to France for the installation of a new motor and it is possible that another attempt will be made later in the summer.

Officials of the ministry of marine feared to allow Lieut. Paris and his two companions to continue on their flight after making temporary repairs upon the damaged motor.

The Frigate hopped off at Brest, France, on Saturday, reaching Horta on Monday morning. The plane had been lifted upon the breakwater at Horta and the airmen were making repairs when the order arrived from Paris to discontinue the flight.

Attempt At Reconciliation Ends In Double Tragedy; Inquest Held

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 25.—Inquest was held today into the deaths of Louis Diamond, 50, who shot and killed his estranged wife, Mary, in her apartment and then shot himself.

Neighbors told police Diamond visited his wife in an attempt to establish a reconciliation. The couple began quarreling and shots were heard.

Neighbors told police they believed Diamond had been drinking. He was employed with a grown son in a steel foundry at Whiting, Ind.

Louis Diamond of Whiting, Ind., and formerly of North Mill street, this city, who, according to the press reports shot and killed his wife in their apartment while attempting a reconciliation, left here last Sunday to return to his wife, relatives say.

He had been in poor health and was despondent for some time. As the work he was doing at the mill seemed too strenuous for his health, he visited here for the last two weeks with relatives throughout the city.

At the time of his departure, he had mentioned the fact that he was attempting a reconciliation with his wife, Mary, relatives relate. They had been separated several times previously and were reconciled each time. Mrs. Diamond, who was not seemingly suited with any location, left her husband and he attempted each time to have her come back with him for the sake of the three children.

To Give One More Chance.

Upon leaving, he stated that he was going to give her 'one more chance." According to relatives here, he had never carried nor ever even used a gun in his life. He had lived here for years in various parts of the city and

RIVER PACKET RACE WINNER MUST DEFEND NEW LAURELS

(International News Service)

CINCINNATI, O., July 25.—The river packet, Chris Greene will not be allowed to rest on the laurels it won here last night in a colorful victory over the Betsy Ann in a fighting 20-mile race up the Ohio river from here to Richmond, O.

The victor in the colorful revival of the time honored sport of river boat racing has been challenged to defend its claim to the river championship by Capt. M. O. Irwin of the steamer Senator Cordill, Pittsburgh. The crew of the Senator Cordill is expected to post $500 to match the amount offered on deposit by Capt. Irwin for a wager.

The Chris Greene which has plied the river only four years won over its veteran competitor the 29-year old Betsy Ann by two boat lengths in a thrilling finish in which it is thought thousands of dollars changed hands in wagers.

Churning the blue-green waters into a foaming white, and belching smoke from their stacks the two contesting steamers brought thousands to the river bank to watch the race. The Chris Greene took the lead a short distance out and its veteran was forced to buck the swells churned by the newer craft almost the whole distance.

The Chris Greene made the distance in two hours, 15 minutes, while the Betsy Ann puffed in two minutes later. The Victor carried two pilots,

Guardsmen Act Like Veterans In Summer Camp

Varied Program For 28th Division In Summer Encampment Today

ENGINEERS WORK ON NEW BRIDGE

(International News Service)

CAMP HENDERSON, MOUNT GRETNA, Pa., July 25.—Beginning the fifth day of their 15 days of intensive field training, the three regiments of the 28th Division, encamped here under the command of Major General William G. Price, Jr., of Chester, went through their varied program today like veterans.

The 112th Infantry Regiment, Colonel C. Blaine Smathers commanding worked on a diversified scheduled which included grenade throwing, bayonet drill, machine gun firing and combat firing at bobbing targets. The regiment contains companies from Grove City, Erie, Ridgway, Butler, Warren, Bradford and other Western Pennsylvania cities.

While the Western Pennsylvania regiment was occupied with this training, the 111th Infantry, of Philadelphia and vicinity, under the command of Colonel Charles B. Finley, fired on the 75 foot practice rifle range, worked with the bayonet and received basic instruction on the infantry drill field.

Colonel Jackson W. Study's command, the 103rd Engineers, of Philadelphia, were engaged in construction work on the new concrete bridge at the overflow of Lake Conewago. Col. Study has a number of engineering projects scheduled for this year, including the preliminary work on a section of road within the reservation.

OPEN PROBE IN TRAIN ACCIDENT AT PITTSBURGH

(curly) Johnson, engineer of the special, told police that a freight car, apparently being backed down a siding, jumped the tracks and fell in the path of the special.

Unable To Stop.

Johnson said he applied the airbrakes but it was too late to avert hitting the derailed car.

Passengers in the excursion said that two other freight cars on the train passing the passenger jumped the tracks and sideswiped the special. One freight car was demolished. The passenger coaches were not badly damaged.

Flying glass caused most of the injuries, according to trainmen. Panic followed among the thousand and more excursionists who fought for the doors. Trainmen summoned police and firemen assistance while thousands of spectators gathered at the scene of the accident.

The wrecked train was one of the 13 which carried the railroad employees on their annual outing from Greensburg and Cleveland to Canton. It was the third train to leave Canton last night, making stops only at Rochester, Alliance and Beaver Falls. A second Pittsburgh-bound excursion drew up behind the wrecked special half an hour after the crash.

survivors of an almost extinct first generation of flyers. Hassel 34 fair haired stocky descendant of Norse navigators, is credited with having more hours in the air than any aviator except Eddie Stinson. He began to fly in 1913 and operated the first aerial express service in the country.

Cramer, 32, measuring something under five feet in height is an inspector for the Bureau of Aeronautics of the Department of Commerce, on leave.

Another imperturable philosopher is Mrs. Elizabeth Hassell, the pilot's mother. She wears a medal on which the royal arms of Sweden are enamelled and placidly states that she's happy her boy is doing what he wants to do.

The route planned by the "Greater Rockford" flyers will follow to some extent that taken by the round-the-world army flyers.

"We will accomplish several things for aerial navigation" Hassell said, "we will establish a transatlantic route from the middle west. And we will reduce the water hazard of transoceanic flying by 75 per cent.

"Flying by way of Greenland with a possible stop in Iceland our longest water jump will be only 528 miles."

A mother, brother and sister have arrived from Clarion, Pa., to wish Cramer Godspeed.

The "Greater Rockford" painted in the red and blue and yellow of Sweden looks like a gaudy giant insect. Rockford's 100,000 population is 60 percent Scandinavian.

The plane will carry no mascot. "We'll put all our cargo in gas" Hassell said.

"I expect to be very busy navigating, not broadcasting" Cramer commented. "I haven't worked a key since 1918. So my message won't be very wordy."

He left here when he had received a special letter from his son in Whiting, Indiana. It is known that in the letter the son and asked him to return. It was at his departure Sunday night from this city that he made the statement that he would give his wife one more chance.

The three children were living with Mr. Diamond in Whiting, and Mrs. Diamond had been in Cleveland since the last separation. He went there and brought her with him to their apartment in Whiting. This last separation had lasted about a year.

The children are returning to this city this afternoon with the bodies of the dead couple, according to relatives.

Louis Diamond was the son of the late Albert Diamond of this city, having himself been born and raised in this city and having resided here until about six months ago, when according to local relatives, he stated that he had a better position in the tin mill at Gary, Indiana, and was going to that place.

He was a tinworker and had been employed in one of the local tin plants for many years, previous to leaving to go to Gary. He was married to Mary Reiber, also a native of this city.

New Diplomacy Turns Paris To Cheer Germany

By GEORGE AXELSSON
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 25.—Want to be a diplomat? Can you buck steers, handle a lasso or pilot an airplane? Failing that, can you at least navigate a one H. P. hack? If you cannot, your place is not in the silk hat brigade of this day and age.

Gustav Hartmann, the Berlin hack driver, did a lot of diplomatic work when he drove his vehicle all the way from the Spree metropole to Paris. His old wagon was hailed by the local press as the "Spirit of Locarno". Never since the war has a German been so enthusiastically wined and dined by the natives of every class and station.

Now it is the turn of Emile Hentugoes, oldest cocher in the Seine city, to reciprocate the visit of Hartmann. Emile is already on his way with his old "hoss" Cocotte. The trip will take some two months. At that, Cocotte is faster than Erasmus, Hartmann's hay consumer. That was definitely established when Hartmann was in Paris. At that time, Cocotte ran a match race against Erasmus along Boulevard Saint-Michel. Cocotte won by a clean oat bag length.

Other efforts by the new school diplomats to cement international friendship include pushing a handcart from Paris to Rome. One graduate recently helped Franco-Dutch relations by doing handsprings every inch of the way from Amsterdam to Paris.

An orphaned mongoose has been raising havoc with the budget of the Paris "pound" recently. This mongoose has the soul of an aristocrat, the connaissance of a gourmet and the capacity of a gourmand. Huge quantities of eggs, fresh cream and meat were required every day to keep the little beast alive and in good humor.

When a purchaser was finally found for the lonely mongoose, the administration of the city's boarding home for stray animals heaved a sigh of relief.

The incident brings to light the fact that cats and dogs are not the only items housed by the Paris pound. A partial list of recent guests reads like a passenger list of Noah's ark. Here it is:

1 camel, 1 jackal, 1 stork, 1 snake, 21 white rats, 5 foxes, 4 ferrets, 2 bears, 5 monkeys, 1 crow, 3 turtles, 27 small birds.

And a number of domestic animals like horses, cows, pigs, chickens, guinea pigs, oxen, donkeys, sheep and geese.

STATION AGENT AVERTS WRECK

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 25. — M. Albright, ticket agent here for the Pennsylvania railroad, today was credited with averting a serious crash between a train and a street car, with 20 passengers aboard, at a grade crossing here late yesterday.

Fearing he would not make it safely across, the motorman began to reverse the trolley. In the meanwhile Albright ran rapidly up the tracks and flagged the train, which the engineer succeeded in stopping just a few inches from the trolley.

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., July 25.—When their milk truck was hit by a Pennsylvania railroad train in a fog at Hays Crossing, New Galilee, near here, today, three men miraculously escaped with bruises.

The men were thrown from the truck but came up in fair condition. They were Charles Barr, 62, of Beaver Falls; and John Lindsay, 50, and John Webster, 23, of New Gilllee.

PROHIBITION WILL BE DEFINITE ISSUE DURING CAMPAIGN

one of his closest advisers said, because Hoover will not "pussyfoot" on the subject. His declaration on prohibition, it was said, will be far more emphatic than in his reply to the famous questionnaire of Senator William E. Borah last spring, in which the nominee appeared to take a middle-of-the-road attitude.

Hoover does not desire to make prohibition an issue, according to his advisers. The circumstances, however, are such that he cannot avoid it. He will simply speak his mind, it was said, but by doing so he undoubtedly will create an issue that may dominate the campaign in the East.

The Republican nominee will make Republican prosperity and a continuance of Republican efficiency in governmental affairs his outstanding issues. He will stress both beyond all other issues, but the decision as of their importance naturally lies with the voters.

High Spots of Speech

Some of the high spots of his speech, which will be his interpretation of the Kansas City platform and therefore the Republican campaign book, will include:

1—A careful analysis of the farm problem and a definite constructive program for alleviation of farm troubles.

2—A specific declaration in favor of the Republican protective tariff, couched in such language as to place the nominee definitely in the "high tariff" class of political economists.

3—A demand for a strong national defense, possibly even to the extent of demanding the strengthening of the American navy pending further international disarmament treaties.

4—A declaration in favor of restrictive immigration with an expression that the present law is partially responsible for American prosperity.

5—A declaration in favor of the outlawry of war and for world conferences to develop arbitrative means of ending international disputes, but without endorsement of the League of Nations.

6—A declaration in favor of enforcing the Monroe Doctrine and an endorsement of the Coolidge administration's record in Nicaragua and other Central American republics as justified under that doctrine.

Throughout his speech Hoover will praise the record of the Republican party in recent administrations, he will declare for the fair treatmgnt of business without governmental interferences, but he will call for the protection of the rights of citizens.

Son Escapes From Prison Gang And Goes To His Home, Father Wounds Him

(International News Service)

GRAFTON, W. Va., July 25.—Stern justice was untempered by a father's partiality when Archie Robinson showed up at his home near Arden after escaping from a gang of county road prisoners, according to police reports here today. When Archie approached his home, his father blazed away with a double-barreled shotgun. The son was slightly wounded in his right hip and state police took him in charge. ## MARVIN REPORTS TRIP TO SEATTLE

Continues Report Of National Convention At Kiwanis Meeting At Noon

At the noon meeing of the New Castle Kiwanis Club, held today at the Elks Club, H. L. Marvin, president of the local organization, who went as a delegate from the local body to the recent Kiwanis international convention at Seattle, described the remaining portion of his trip, which he did not tell about at last week's meeting.

Mr. Marvin told the members why Milwaukee was chosen as the place for the 1929 convention of Kiwanis international, clearly emphasizing the hard work and the publicity methods that the Milwaukee delegation, consisting of over 130 persons, resorted to in order to win the convention for their city.

The club president told his audience some of the things he learned while visiting in Seattle concerning the habits of the salmon fish. Tracing his trip down the coast to San Francisco, he told them everything that appealed to him to be worthy of bringing home to his fellow Kiwanians.

"San Francisco and Los Angeles", he said, "are very jealous of each other. One had better not mention the name of the other town while visiting in either, for even the citizens seem to shun the name."

Mr. Marvin described his trip to the Grand Canyon, through the wheat fields of Texas and then up through Kansas, on through the central section of the United States which led him back home.

Previous to Mr. Marvin's address Fred Wolford of the organization's house committee, gave a brief history of the different presidents of the club, adding some clever remark for each of them. Harry Moore entertained the members with several selections on the piano, while James Love showed those present how well he could play the harmonica.

All Auto Lights Must Be Focussed Properly—Hanlon

All front lights of automobiles, even those on the cowl of the machine, must be properly focussed, according to Bernard N. Hanlon, secretary-manager of the New Castle Motor Club, who further states that drastic action is being contemplated to make motorists comply with the state requirements.

It is also forbidden, says Mr. Hanlon, for the motorist to drive at night with only his cowl lights burning. The headlights must be lighted.

"It is up to the individual motorist to see that he complies with the state lighting requirements," concludes the motor club secretary. "And it is up to the motorist to have an extra set of bulbs with him at all times."

UP TO PARENTS

THE announcement of the intention of the American Federation of Teachers to work for a universal compulsory education law for all children under 18 years of age as a remedy for juvenile delinquency appears to be based on the assumption that moral delinquency may be prevented by quantity rather than the quality of the instruction. It may be desirable that no child be permitted to end its schooling until the age specified, but adding a year or more to the compulsory age will not of itself operate to attain the end sought.

It is said that inadequately educated young persons are revealed to grow delinquent morally as well as in industrial and commercial advance, but by no means all of education is in the schools. By far the more valuable part is received in the home, if it be had at all. More schooling might help much but it would not do all desirable in diminishing delinquency. If the right kind of principles are inculcated even though schooling be ended before one is 18 there is very little peril of lapsing into delinquency.

WORTH ALL IT COSTS

IT IS estimated that 30,000,000 persons in the United States have enjoyed or will enjoy vacations averaging two weeks and that the total expenditure amounts to $3,000,000,000. That so many could afford to devote so much money to a matter largely of pleasure is a testimonial to the widespread prosperity which prevails. Railroad traffic is above the average and summer resorts are having a highly profitable season. Tourists camps have been filled to overflowing. The national parks have had more visitors than ever before. All these things are taken into account in reaching the estimate, which, of course, is nothing more than approximate, since there can be no such goal as accuracy in such a matter.

That so many are able to knock off from the regular vocation and seek relaxation shows that as a people we are learning the value of a bit of leisure. We have a class which devotes itself chiefly to leisure, but the vacationists referred to are those who for the main part of the year are busily employed. The number of vacationists is all the more noteworthy since it must have included the farmers in but a small proportion and they are more numerous than any other class. The summer is the farmer's busy season and his leisure, if he has any, comes at other times. Next winter many of the tillers of the soil will hitch up the car and journey southward for a few weeks and will augment the numbers of the vacationists considered by the year.

The vacation idea calls for the employment of many thousands who cater to the wants of vacationists. This involves business of vast magnitude in itself and it has wide ramifications. What is one's period of leisure is another's time of activity. All of us could not take vacations at once. Somebody has to stay on the job to provide for the vacationists—and take in the money the vacationists have to spend. And the latter feature is attended to with promptness.

MOON IS BEATEN

JULES VERNE wrote fanciful tales of flying to the moon and journeying to the center of the earth and voyaging 20,000 leagues under the sea. He enjoyed a large vogue, and his works were translated into all European languages. One of his most effective tales was called, in its English translation, "Around the World in Eighty Days." It appeared in 1873, and people read it with delight and chuckled at the audacity of the Frenchman who dared to imagine such an utterly impossible thing. That he was able to make it seem plausible was merely a proof of his indomitable ingenuity. Of course no one ever could go around the world in 80 days.

Now Mears and Collyer, two Americans. have completed the circut of the globe in 23 days. Without serious discomfort they have "beaten the moon."

Not much more than half a century ago it was considered fantastic to think of going around the earth in 80 days. Fifty years hence what will people think of the 23-day record?

Mears and Collyer have "beaten the moon." Will it be possible in 50 years for hasty travelers to beat the sun? Instead of taking 23 days will the circumnavigator of 1988 require only 23 hours?

It seems impossible. But it seems no more impossible than the feat of Mears and Collyer would have seemed to men amused by Verne's wild literary dream in 1873.

There are no benefits like those one gets by belonging to the New Castle Motor Club for the money involved. And it gives you prestige to belong to a motor club. Every dub does not belong. And the police in all cities know that.

A journeyman salesman was meeting with poor success in the backwoods of a section not far from New Castle. Finally in desperation he stopped at the most forlorn and povertystricken appearing house he had yet come across. Undeterred by the repeated refusal of the head of the family to purchase a certain article, the salesman continued to talk in his efforts to sell, but he finally had to admit defeat when the man remarked, "Say, mister, I only spent one dime in my life for foolishness, and that was for a pair of socks."

HOW HE KNEW

"Did your wife ask you to leave her?" asked the judge of Harvey Grant of Los Angeles, seeking a divorce from his spouse.

"Well, she gave the hint, judge," replied Harvey.

"What kind of a hint?"

"I came home one night and found that she had locked the door and hung my pajamas on the doorknob."

"Take your divorce," said the judge.

An attempt is being made at Washington, D. C., to line up the farmers and independent voters for Governor Smith. We are wondering how those "independent" voters will vote this fall. The farmer cannot be blamed for voting any way he pleases, and even then he will get the worst of it. But that "independent" bunch that always favors Democrats and claims to be Republican is what we are waiting to see in action.

"Our modern sophistication, with its psychological complexes, thyroid glands and economic intricacies, has wafted a whole new retinue of characters into the limelight." That is the manner in which Herbert Brenon, the film director, expresses a thought. Herbert will never make a title writer for the movies with that kind of lingo.

A lady golf player made a record never before heard of on a course at Brookline, Mass., when she made two holes-in-one. Only those who know the game of golf will worry about that.

This is the season when you can't tell whether the proud and happy man has a baby at his house or an extra large radish.

Two large soap-making concerns have effected a merger. You may think this is for the purpose of making soap so it can be sold cheaper. No, that is not the reason.

During a grouse shoot two sportsmen were potting the birds from butts situated very close to each other.

Suddenly a red face showed over the top of one butt, and the occupant said, "Curse you, sir, you almost hit my wife just now."

"Did I?" said the culprit, aghast. "I'm frightfully sorry. Er—have a shot at mine."

All the inhabitants of a village in Turkey have quit smoking tobacco and this old bird says he will keep on smoking until his death. Well, getting the most of the inhabitants of a village in Turkey to stop smoking is going some, at that.

Women politicians and those interested in civic movements in the United States are planning important work in the national campaign. Getting out the vote and aiding in intelligent functioning of the electorate will be the objective of the League of Women Voters. There is to be no partisan flavor in the league's activities. Well, the ladies are picking out a very nice strenuous job.

Jesse H. Jones, the man who got the Democratic convention to go to Houston, Texas, and who is also the owner of the Houston Chronicle, says that prohibition should not have a leading role in the Presidential campaign. Mr. Jones is a fine gentleman, but he will find that that very same thing is about the only thing that will have a role of any kind in the campaign.

"There ain't no use doin' nothin' fer nobody, what won't do nuthin' fer you" is what Sis Hopkins told us years ago and which a lot of us still believe.

So far as known, there is no place on earth where it does not rain. The driest place in the United States is in the Mojave Desert of southeastern California. In this region the average annual precipitation is about two inches, equivalent to a summer thunderstorm shower in New York. At Bagdad, San Bernardino, California, no appreciable rainfall fell in a period of two years' duration. However, very few years pass without some rainfall. Even the Sahara Desert of Africa is not absolutely rainless, though trustworthy records are unavailable, as much of the vast desert is uninhabited.

"Ah see yo' is housecleaning," said Mrs. Snow White.

The man who is his own worst enemy usually fulfills the Biblical command to "love thy enemies."

Our idea of love's labor lost is throwing a kiss at a girl in the dark.

"Do you believe there is a devil?" seven-year-old Johnny Austin asked his companion in Sunday school.

"Of course I do."

"Huh! It's the same as the story about Santa Claus," said Johnny. "It's your father."

Our pastor asked us if we could not make this column a bit more religious on Mondays after being in church on Sundays. We told him we were mighty glad and lucky to have anything in it on Mondays. We do not put things like we hear in church in this column. People wouldn't read it.

About the only hope chest the modern groom ever has now is about a bushel of socks his new bride will have a chance to mend. She might say "Darn" or even worse if so inclined.

At some of the smart seaside resorts girls are now wearing clothing, and other equipment that match the tan on their faces and other places. That's a sure case of all being tanned up.

The Sunday shool teacher had gathered about her a crowd of boys and girls and told them to think of something they would like to own that belonged to some one else. "For example" said the teacher, "I would like to have th eeyes of a cat so she could see in the dark. Then came the turn of one of those bad little boys at the silly age. 'I wish I had the neck of a giraffe" he said. "so I could taste ice cream a long time."

Fashion expert says the short skirt eventually will disappear. Omigosh!

The president-elect of Mexico was buried at night with no religious ceremony which was his request. He had risen from the position of a railroad laborer to president of his country. There is still some democracy in Mexico.

A young lady in New York jumped into the ocean and drowned herself when a poet criticised her poems. We know of poets being kicked out of places and they just went right home and started to write more and never made a complaint.

When a Sunday school teacher asked a foreign kid what animal comes next to man in intelligence, the kid nearly paralyzed her after a moment's thought by saying "Vell Miss, , you know I think woman does." Yeow!

People who give away pieces of their mind every day naturally can expect to not have any of it left if they live long enough.

The fellow who expects great things from an auto mechanic finds the only great thing about him is his monthly statement.

They had to neck in the days of the chariot to keep from fallin' out.

Round the world flyers have clipped four and one-half days from the former best record ever made. We would like to know what that gets any one?

Once when we were on the ocean we heard a waiter say he would like to bring a sick lady something to eat. She finally said to him "you can bring it on approval." He asked, "What do you mean?", and she replied "I might not want to keep it."

A postal card inquirer wants to know why a giraffe's neck is so long. We do not know unless it is because it is so far from it's body.

A lot of Democrats want Gov. Smith to make as many speeches and cover as much of the country as possible, while another bunch of Dems. want him to make speeches only at certain srategical points. So what is the poor candidate for president going to do?

A man with only one arm and no legs wants to fly across the Atlantic just to prove one does not have to have all his legs and arms to be a good flyer. Well another thing also there isn't much of him to hunt for when he disappears.

Aunt Helen—Have you told anyone of your engagement to Mr. Brown?

Edith—Not a soul, except Margaret, who thought he was going to propose to her.

THE SMITH PLAGUE.

There is a tale about a man
Who roamed from land to land
In search of just a single spot
Where Smiths were not on hand.

He trudged on mountain and on plain,
In lands to us just myths,
But everywhere his footsteps lead,
He found a drove of Smiths.

At last he hit the very town
Where Smiths are manufactured,
And fell down deader than a rock—
His too strained heart was fractured.

The poor man has my sympathy,
For my heart too is torn
Because there are so many Smiths
And more are being born.

It's John Smith and George Smith
Until it gets confusing,
In fact there are so many Smiths,
It's ceased to be amusing.

And now they seek for president
A Smith of deepest dye,
But I'll be dogged if I will vote
For any such named guy.

Hiram and Jim Mean It.
Stingy Peace Not Wanted.
Can You Write an Anthem?
Out of the Cradle.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Hiram Johnson says he will work for Hoover, and that disposes of California, if there were any doubt as to Hoover's home state.

When Senator Johnson says a thing he means it, and no one will be more surprised than he if California does not show a gigantic Hoover victory.

And, in the language of the day, "that goes double for Gov. Smith and Senator Jim Reed, in Missouri." Certain men carry other men along with them by sheer force of sincerity. Johnson and Reed are men of that kind.

Soon the Senate will be asked to ratify the peace treaty, or whatever it may prove to be, prepared by this country and eagerly accepted by Europe—a little too eagerly, perhaps.

The Senate will think it over carefully, and wise Senators will not like the suggestion that we cut down our Navy cost—unless the money saved is spent on a fighting air fleet. Only a silly country would substitute a scrap of paper for real defense.

To make a peace agreement effective, put airships and submarines back of it.

Mrs. Brooks-Aten offers $6,000 in prizes for a new national anthem. The idea is to get something that will not offend anybody. Britain especially.

There is no such anthem. Men are not ready for them.

But you might have a national song about the factories, gold reserve, oil wells and rising stock prices. That would suit many no longer interested in the rocket's red glare, or bombs bursting in air.

The trouble is, from Mrs. Brooks-Aten's viewpoint, that if we had any real trouble, the people would hurry back to the good old "Say, can you see."

"Out of the cradle endlessly rocking," we all came, poetically speaking. It is considered bad medicine now to rock the baby. It shakes his little brain. Evolution tells you that rocking babies pacifies them, because the wind used to rock our monkey-like ancestors, living in trees. Many a fundamentalist will stop rocking the baby for that reason, who would not stop for doctors.

Ellen Terry after death goes back to the cradle. By her desire her ashes will rest in a pretty, white cradle designed by her son. That seems an improvement on the usual gold urn.

Jose De Leon Toral who killed Obregon, has made a full confession, according to the chief of police. The outside world will not know what pressure brought that confession.

Luis Morones, Minister of Labor, has resigned and is hiding, accused by the agrarians of instituting Obregon's murder. Mexico seemed on the point of a civil war between city labor unions and the farmers. Morones' disappearance may avert that.

The Irish Free State decides the time has not come to invite King George to his dominion in the south of Ireland. The Free State would gladly welcome the King, but fears that ardent Irish Republicans might feel and act otherwise. With them, to feel is to act.

Many Irishmen, and women especially, keep in mind Cromwell's short letter from Ireland, which ran about as follows:

"I have pacified this island. I shot every tenth man, the rest I sent to the galleys, the monks I knocked on the head.—Oliver Cromwell."

Lieut. Paulin Paris, fine young Frenchman, is on his way, west bound across the Atlantic, on his seaplane La Fregate. He comes by way of the Azores, which Lindbergh call the best route for trans-Atlantic flight. Lindbergh chose the longer, more dangerous water hop, to win a prize that would pay his expenses. Money was not plentiful with him, a year ago.

Lieut. Paris will get welcomed and men like him will keep France ahead in aviation.

The two big parties will spend $10,000,000 on the campaign and if honestly spent without ballot-box corruption, that is not a large sum, less than 10 cents per inhabitant.

Many million dollars will be spent, not accounted for, dollars that the two finance committee will not handle. The law cannot reach that.

"My grandfather," said the English boy, "was a very great man. One day Queen Victoria touched him on the shoulder with a sword and made him a knight."

"Aw, that's nothin'," the American boy replied, "One day an Indian touched my grandfather on the head with a tomahawk and made him an angel."

And when she got her fur coat on
Miss Lucy looked like two gals.

THE HOUNDS OF GOD

There was one great mind of the nineteenth century that knew how to read his Bible. Abraham Lincoln had Moses and Pharaoh in his mind when he wrote his second inaugural address, the noblest state paper of America:

"Fondly do we hope and fervently do we pray that this scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet if God will that it continue until all the wealth piled up by the bondman's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, 'The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'"

Lincoln was of the Moses type; he did not laugh at the strange story of the plagues, he shuddered; he was finding out what it meant; he knew about "The Hounds of God":

The hounds of God across the years
Are runningg swift and true;
Far and away they seem to play,
But they're tracking me and you.

The king is seated on his throne,
His courtiers stand around him;
They see him start and grasp his heart—
The hounds of God have found him.

At low midnight the wastrel wakes,
Afraid upon his bed;
The far-off sounds of the baying hounds
Are ...ing in his head.

The wicked woman wipes her lips,
And says, "'Tis naught, 'tis naught!"
But the velvet feet of the hounds so fleet
Whisper behind her thought.

They have torn great empires limb from limb,
They have conquered the conquerers,
And their teeth have hurt for sins of dirt
In plagues that are worse than wars.

They have cruelly taken the old man down;
They have bitten the babe at the breast;
For there's never a sin of kith or kin
Can escape their fateful quest.

Before us goes God's angel tall,
Flying upon the wind;
And sweet as dawn he beckons us on—
But the hounds of God are behind!

AMERICAN WILD LIFE

The Federal Government is providing great Zoos for the citizens of the Nation in the great National Parks of the West. I once saw in the dusky twilight nine grizzly bears at the "Dump" back of the Canyon Hotel in the Yellowstone. Steve Elkins, the great guide, told me that it was the largest number of Grizzlies he had ever seen together in his whole career. This was only one result of the Government's care and protection of the Wild Life of America.

Visitors to Glacier National Park, in northwestern Montana, now are afforded unusual facilities for seeing moose, the largest of American big game animals by virtue of the establishment of a "fire lookout station".

The station has been established on a mountain overlooking the lower end of Bowman Lake and some meadows and marshes nearby. When guests at the park express a desire to see moose, the management telephone the fire lookout, who in turn telephones the exact position of the animals. They can then be stalked and a good view is obtained. Moose visit these marshes almost every day.

The game count of the park recently completed reveals that moose are increasing in numbers. The heavy forests, numerous meadows and marshes furnish ideal range for them. They are fully protected from hunters and are too large to be pulled down by predatory animals, unless disabled.

No live moose was ever shown in captivity. No circus has ever succeeded in that.

THE WORLD SPIRIT

Newton D. Baker and other leaders of American thought on public affairs will be interested in the small sized advertisement of Franz Kraft, of Vienna, Austria. At a cost of $14 Mr. Kraft published an advertisement in a New York newspaper congratulating the United States on its national holiday, the Fourth of July. Mr. Baker talks a great deal about the need of international-mindedness. Here is a man with an international mind.

A GOOD BET

More than thirty years ago an Illinois coal miner entered a hospital. He gave the hospital his savings of $2,000 on agreement that he should be cared for as long as he lived. That was a good bet. Not many people succeed in being taken care of for 32 years on $2,000. It is a bit of news that draws the mind to the possibilities of life insurance. Insurance does not offer a fair chance to get something for nothing, but it does offer the chance to get a very heavy return for a moderate investment.

WHEAT AND POLITICS

In 1914 Kansas harvested 180,000,000 bushels of wheat. That was a world's record. This year the record is likely to fall. Kansas has another enormous wheat crop. Farmers there aren't worrying as much about trick bills for fixing price levels as you might think. They are getting ready to buy a new car and improve the radio reception. Nothing's the matter with Kansas.

PUSHING THE GOODS

Any salesman will tell you that a stock of goods in your store is not a business. A stock of information in your mind is not an education. A job is not success. To make a business you have to push the goods, advertise them, display them. And you must use your mind. Exercise it. Keep it open and flexible, quick and workable. Getting a good job is only the beginning of the road. Nothing more useless than a road if we don't travel it.

TAXING NUISANCES

We're tired of the so-called nuisance taxes. Now let's tax the nuisances. Lets begin with the fellow who is always telling you just why some other fellow does what he does. He is a cynic. He gives nobody credit for honest, healthy motives. He must look for a selfish reason for every act. He's the fellow who gives you the "low-down" on why sbmebody got a job or gave a hundred dollars to the Y. M. C. A. He's a nuisance. Let's tax him.

IN NEW YORK

James C. Moore is a taxi driver, or was a few days ago. He was piloting me through a driving rain in the Times Square neighborhood, when he confided to me that he wasn't going to be a taxi driver much longer.

"Two weeks more and I'm through," he said. "I've been driving in these streets for 25 years, but it's getting too much for me. Do you see how these women run across the street to keep from getting their clothes too wet? And they don't look in either direction, because they're afraid they might see some traffic. Just plunge in and take the risk, so's maybe they can get into a subway before they get soaked through to the skin.

"Well, I've never hit anybody. But I'm afraid for the next two weeks. It just looks impossible to keep from hitting them much longer.

"I have a wife and kid to look after, and I am strong and healthy. I'm going to get me a job as a longshoreman. Nine dollars a day, and you earn all nine of 'em. When the day is over you know you've been earning money by the way your back feels. But it beats this.

"I own my cab, and I'm selling it. There's more than 25,000 taxis on these streets, and there's no room for anything more. But there's more and more traffic every day, and more people getting killed. If I had any nerves I'd be crazy, but anyhow I'm tired."

So there's an obscurity interview from the city's streets. There are so many reporters to interview the celebrities that you are kept pretty closely in touch with greatness.

I have interviewed most of the living celebrities, and a good many who aren't living any more. But I get more pleasure out of interviewing the obscurities. I was reared in a small town, where it was the most natural thing in the world to stop and talk with the truck driver, the motorman and the corner cop. These are the obscurities whose lives and opinions and problems interest me. I hope you'll bear with me, then, if I occasionally break in with an obscurity interview in this column.

Major Seymour At Camp Phillips

Scouts Given Instruction In Indian Sign Language By Expert

SCOUTMASTERS IN CAMP REUNION

The regional director of region No. 3 of the Boy Scouts of America, Major R. S. Seymour paid an inspection visit Tuesday at Camp Phillips, and mingled with the boys during the entire day, addressing them several times, bringing to them messages of cheer and inspiration.

Through him the scouts could visualize the whole of the scout program as practiced by tens of thousands of scouts. All the boys were eager to catch the visions and wisdom that this man like a loving father has for his youthful audience. Major Seymour met also the scoutmasters and once more reminded all that Camp Phillips is a truly wonderful institution.

Tomkins Teaches Signs.

The entire company of scouts; about 100 strong pressed toward the best seats in the auditorium to be instructed in Indian sigh language by William Tomkins the noted educator and author. The method is simple, ingenious and comes to the scouts quite naturally, because Prof. Tomkins has put into his method 40 years of study and research.

Indian sign language takes us to the same method primitive men had to make known their ideas. They talked with their hands. Later they invented written pictures, signs and finally letters. Very many of our gestures of the present day are the ones the Indians used. The scout benediction and scout oath among other things wer acted out by Mr. Tomkins.

While the great teacher was acting out a story the scouts in unison were interpreting it aloud. In two lessons and a review the boys learned more than 100 words, another 100 will be taught and with an average of 300 words scouts can carry on sign-language conversations anywhere in the world with his brother scouts. Prof. Tomkins is being feted by all scouts and the staff.

Honor Points.

High point scorer for Tuesday was Paul Duffy, who scored 180 honor points and Bob Infield came second with 175 points.

For Sale—One "Used Husband"

That's the remarkable proffer which Mrs. Janet Quittner (above with her husband) is alleged to have made to Mrs. Esther Feldman Beck (inset below) according to papers in a $50,000 heart balm suit instituted by Mrs. Quittner against Mrs. Beck. The latter denies the larceny charge, saying that plaintiff came to her and said: "If you pay me $10,000, you can have my husband for your husband."

United States Will Withdraw Portion Of Marines From China

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Possible early recognition of the Chinese Nationalist government was seen today in the administration's decision to withdraw 1,350 marines from China. This is one third of the American force there.

The withdrawal order was issued by President Coolidge after consulting over the telephone with Secretary of State Kellogg. It was recommended by Admiral Mark Bristol, commander of American forces in Chinese waters. The marines will be taken aboard the navy transport Henderson at Tientsin.

Secretary Kellogg has become sympathetic to the Nationalists' request for revision by the powers of the Chinese treaties. Removal of the troops is regarded as the forerunner of a conference to discuss the treaty question. It is also further evidence of the administration's belief that the Nationalists, in control of North and South China, are in position to assure a stable government, the requisite laid down by Kellogg for recognition.

A definite statement of America's policy toward China is being cabled by Kellogg to American Minister McMurray in Peking and will be released tomorrow at the state department.

IN THE WORLD TO COME

If in the world to come I find
No work to do of any kind,
No little tasks to fill the day,
But ever the dull routine of play,
I'll ask the Lord to give me birth
And send me back again to earth.

If in the world to come I find
No questions to perplex the mind,
No problems shaded dark with doubt,
No mysteries still to be worked out,
But all things done, and all things clear,
I shall not like it there, I fear.

If life eternal means that I
Shall not be needed when I die,
That none shall wish me for a friend,
Or ask the aid which I can lend,
That all is right and nothing's wrong,
I shall not like it very long.

If in that broader, ampler sphere
I cannot work as I've done here,
Think, dream and serve and strive to make
Some progress for my spirit's sake,
I'll risk the heartache and the pain
And ask to come to earth again.

Rules To Protect Movie Patrons Are Now Before Board

HARRISBURG, July 25.—Protection of men, women and children who crowd Pennsylvania's theaters and motion picture houses throughout the year is the aim of revised safety regulations which are now before the industrial board of the Department of Labor and Industry for consideration and adoption.

Approximately 1,100 places of amusement outside the cities of Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Scranton would be affected by the proposed regulations, which cover means of egress, aisles, seating, prosenium curtains and motion picture booths.

Copies of the proposed changes will be distributed to proprietors of theaters and motion picture houses and to the public generally for criticisms and suggested improvements before final action is taken by the industrial board.

The board also passed favorably on a proposal to permit workmen to ride to and from their duties on builders' hoists which are erected where construction is under way. Prior to this action artisans were denied the privilege and were compelled to reach upper floors or descend from them by means of temporary stairways. The new regulations indorsed by both employers and employed, require that all necessary safeguards be installed. Charles A. Waters, secretary of the department, is expected to promulgate the new order promptly.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FIDRENCE SMITH VINCENT

TWO LITTLE LOVERS IN GREEN

"THEY WERE SITTING CLOSE TOGETHER, JABBERING TO ONE ANOTHER"

"Wife and I looked in the direction from whence the voice came and there upon a bough right above the cool water sat two birds. They were much smaller than either Toco or the Parrot—in fact, they were not a great deal larger than were we ourselves—but they each wore a coat of bright grass-green, trimmed with blue and black. They were pretty birds and they were sitting so close together that their feathers were all mixed up. One could hardly tell which belonged to who. The sweet voice continued:—

"'We love each other so very much that we have no time to spend on anyone else at all. But we do not hate anyone; we think of everyone as our friend and when we meet a stranger we like him right away. You seem like very nice little birds. We are sorry we cannot visit with you, we might learn many things, but we have so much to say to each other that we cannot spare a moment. You will excuse us, won't you?'

"At this strange speech we Bobolinks could not find a word to say. We could only look in surprise at two birds who could talk only to each other. They must have been separated a long while to find each other so interesting that they couldn't even chat for a moment with strangers. We didn't mean to listen, but we couldn't help it. Before we could fly away, and just as though we were not around, the two green birds continued their conversation. And this is all they said:—

"'I love you, dear,' this from the one who had spoken with us.

"'And I love you. How wonderful you are, so brave and so loyal!'

"'There is no bird in all the world as fair as you; you have a lovely figure, my dear, so plump, and your feathers every one of them is as soft as down. I would rather snuggle here by your side than do anything else I could think of.'

"'It makes me very happy to hear you say that, my darling husband, for I know that if anything should ever happen to you I should just curl up and die. Don't you remember how Aunt Green-Tail felt when Uncle Black-Collar met with that accident that cost him his life? Why she wouldn't eat a thing, not one of us could coax her to take even a drink and she sat upon the branch where they had so often perched together and just drooped and drooped! Poor Auntie grew thinner and thinner and one morning when we went to see her she wasn't on the perch at all. She had grown too weak to hold on and had fallen to the ground. There we found her and we knew that she was happy, for she had gone to join Uncle Black-Collar. We wept and covered her with leaves. That is what would happen to me, dear, if you should leave me. You will be careful not to meet with an accident, won't you?'

"'Of course, wifie. Don't worry your dear little head about that. I love you.'

"At that point the conversation began all over again. But wifie and I had heard about all of that silly talk that we cared to. No mates are more affectionate than Bobolinks, but we don't talk about our love all the time. We believe actions speak louder than words. So Mrs. Bob and I hurried off as fast as our wings would carry us, and for all we know those Love Birds are loving yet!"

Her Health Came Back Soon After She Got Konjola

New Medicine Ended Years Of Kidney and Liver Troubles; States This Lady

MRS. LAURA L. FULTON
Seavy Photo

Many of the well known residents of New Castle and vicinity are telling how this remarkable medicine, Konjola, is delivering them from their health troubles. The Konjola Man, who is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., this city, is explaining this compound to over a hundred people throughout each day, and at the same time, many already benefited are giving their indorsement of this medicine.

One of the latest statements came from Mrs. Laura L. Fulton, 110½ North Liberty St., this city.

"This is the first time in my life to ever praise a medicine to the public", said Mrs. Fulton, "and I want to indorse Konjola because it completely restored my health after everything else failed.

"I was suffering every day with kidney trouble. Nothing that I ever took or did for that ailment, would do me the least bit good. As the days passed my condition grew all the worse. My lower limbs would swell up to almost twice their size and sometimes I could hardly get around the house. There seemed to be a constant pain across the small of my back. At night I would have to rise several times and this broke up my rest so that I was always tired and worn-out. Because of sluggish liver, my entire body was broken out with a rash. This caused me so much suffering that I often thought I would go wild. At [illegible] I had splitting headaches that felt as if a thousand needles were sticking in my head. I always felt tired and draggy—just like I was only half-living.

"In this condition I went to the Konjola Man and found out about this medicine. I was merely told that it had helped others in my condition and that it most likely would help me. I have only taken two bottles but I feel as if I never had a sick day in my life. Konjola regulated and strengthened my kidneys so that my limbs never swell. The awful pains in my back have never returned since I started taking this medicine and I enjoy sound and all night sleep. My liver is functioning the way it should and the rash has cleared up, in fact, my complexion is better now than it has been for a long time. The medicine has helped me so much to gain new and glorious health and that is my reason for indorsing it".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Increased Republican Membership In House Is Seen For Next Year

(Special To The News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 25. — An increased Republican membership in the house next year as the result of the November election is forseen by Representative Wood, of Indiana, who is the chairman of the Republican congressional campaign committee. Mr. Wood looks for a solid Republican delegation in congress from Pennsylvania on account of the importance of the tariff issue, and he expects additional strength to be picked up from the South and West.

The house now has 237 Republicans and 195 Democrats, but the entire membership must be elected in November and the Republican leaders are anxious for a larger majority on account of the pending plan to revise the tariff laws during the seventy-first congress. Headquarters for the congressional campaign will be opened in New York on August 1 and in Chicago about August 15.

Mr. Wood recently returned from a tour of the Southwest and West and declared that the divided sentiment among the Democrats in many of the states ought to be of much benefit to the Republicans in electing members to the house.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis, accompanied by members of his family and officials of the department of labor, have sailed for Europe. Secretary Davis will attend the World Fraternal Conference which begins at Cardiff, Wales, of July 29 and with members of his department will inspect immigration offices maintained in the principal European countries.

Pennsylvania is one of the twenty-one states maintaining systems for the retirement of school teachers and leads all others in enrollment according to a survey just completed by the bureau of statistics of the department of labor. While most of the systems limit the retirement features to teachers, Pennsylvania is one of two states which extend the privileges to other employes of the school system.

The first retirement systems were established in 1908 in Rhode Island and Virginia. Pennsylvania organized in 1921 and leads with a membership of 58,409 as compared with Ohio's 42,972 and New York's 39,648.

Establishing of a "prosperity reserve" fund to stabilize industry and furnish employment through governmental public works at times of general depression, is anticipated at the next session of congress by Senator Jones, of Washington, chairman of the senate committee on commerce. The "prosperity reserve" fund was first advocated by former Senator Pepper, of Pennsylvania, at the suggestion of certain Pennsylvanians interested in preventing widespread unemployment.

The bill now before the senate for consideration when it reconvenes next December calls for an appropriation of $150,400,000 to be expended on public works during periods when the volume of contracts awarded for construction work in the United States has fallen ten per cent for a three month period below the average of the corresponding three month periods of the preceding three years. The proposed bill provides for appropriation of rural post roads, river and harbor work, flood control work and construction of public buildings outside of Washington.

The Republican national committee recognizing the importance women are to play in the presidential campaign have set aside fifteen of the thirty rooms at the Republican headquarters here for women's activities. It is reported that there are a total of 29,774,712 males and 28,615,041 females entitled to vote for president of the United States next November. The Republican officials expect the women of the country to give a record account at the next election in favor of the Hoover-Curtis ticket.

The average net return for farms in all parts of the country during 1927 was $1,290 as compared with $1,113 in 1926 according to a survey made by the United States Department of Agriculture. Average gross receipts were $2,505.00, consisting of $978.00 from sales of crops, $851.00 from sales of livestock, $638 from sales of livestock products, and $38.00 from miscellaneous items.

Dragon Flies Drive Bathers Off Coney Island Beach

NEW YORK, July 25.—Coney Island beach was deserted last night when a huge swarm of dragon flies came across the water from Long Island and put the bathers into a panic.

From six o'clock until seven the air was filled from six to 50 feet above the beach with the bright colored flies. All went well until someone called, "Look out for their stingers." Despite the fact that a dragon fly never stung anybody, not even a rag man, for they can't this set the bathers in a near panic and for a while the place was totally deserted.

Later when some of the bolder of the crowd recovered their equilibrium and composure they went out and started to slap at the flies with towels and anything that they could get their hands on.

There were two kinds of the flies. The larger group with the black bodies measured four inches from wing tip to wing tip. The others, which were silver and brown, were but three inches long.

Believe Kidnaping Note Is Big Hoax

GREENVILLE, Pa., July 25.—Police believe that the strange kidnapping case of the "Miss Calvin Ford" is but a huge smart alec joke that was perpetrated by some unknown party.

Officers find no one by that name and the license number that was written on the slip under the message that was thrown into the road is that of a car owned by John Bell of McDonald. Inquiry, it was found that Bell's car had not been out of the garage from Thursday until Sunday.

The message which was thrown from the car was, "Am being kidnapped, rush help." Underneath this was written the license number, "504-203, Penna." The note was thrown from a car bearing a man and a woman in the front seat and a young girl in the back seat was picked up by a Miss Marie Carven of near Osgood. She immediately turned it over to the police. Since then, a thorough investigation has been conducted.

Veterans Pay Enormous Sum

Result Of Increase In Rediscount Rate Causes Heavy Payment By Veterans

VETERANS BUREAU DISCLOSES FACT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Directly hit by the efforts of the government to check speculative activities through the federal reserve system, World war veterans are paying over a million dollars a year additional interest as a result of the 1½ percent increase in re-discount rates.

This was disclosed today at the veterans' bureau. Loans made to veterans on adjusted service certificates are at the interest rate of two precent above the re-discount rate, according to the law. This rate is charged by the veterans' bureau and the banks, both of which ban on the bonus policies.

Nothing To Do

Several of the reserve banks are on a five percent re-discount level, meaning that veterans are forced to pay seven percent interest on their loans. Already the Chicago reserve bank is considering a jump to six percent and when one bank raises most of the others are likely to follow.

"There is nothing that the veterans' bureau can do about the situation to relieve veterans of the unusually high interest rate, a bureau official said. "The law must be carried out."

Every one percent advance in the rediscount rate costs veterans $697,911 on the basis of the present volume of loans outstanding on bonus certificates—$69,791,100. Loans were outstanding to $715,890 veterans at the last report made by the bureau.

While all loans are comparitively small veterans obtaining these advances since the discount rates went up are paying from $1.50 to $2.50 more a year for their loans than when the rate was 3½ percent.

Silk Smuggling Bringing Stern British Action

By J. C. OESTREICHER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 25.—A tremendous increase of smuggling in silk clothes by English women returnig from the continent has prompted the British customs officials to take strenuous steps.

All custom emloyes have been ordered to increase their vigilance and to deal merciliessly with the baggage of any woman suspected of trying to evade the duty.

The smugglers according to the authorities consist mainly of women belonging to aristocratic families, actresses and representatives of firms dealing in Parisian frocks and millinery.

Pay Penalties.

Few of the cases are taken to court for the reason that the smugglers prefer to pay the heavy penalty of treble duty and forfeiture of their goods rather than be convicted in a public court. For a long time customs men have been rather lax and have only taken strong measures when wholesale smuggling is suspected but now the woman who surreptitiously hides a few pieces of flimsy Parisian underwear in the bottom of her bag will suffer if she fails to declare the goods.

A customs officer explained to International News Service how the offenders were discovered.

"Women find it almost impossible to conceal their duplicity unless they are professional smugglers" he declared.

"The average woman who tries to get away with a few things invariably gives herself away by a quivering of her chin or the shading of her eyes when she tells us she has 'nothing to declare.'

Search Luggage.

"When we see these undeniable symptoms we always search the luggage carefully. They rarely ever lie and our search is always rewarded. And the 'defense' is almost the same.

"'Oh! dear, I have had such a bad channel crossing' the offender will say, " and I really forgot all about those things."

"They try to play upon our mercy but if there is proof that the smuggling was intentional the penalty is always the same—three times the duty and the forfeiture of the goods.

"I have seen actresses burst into tears that would rend the heart-strings of a well paying audience but we steel ourselves to such demonstrations and they have no effect upon us.

"The law has decreed that silk goods must be declared and it is our duty to carry out the law."

Chinese General Apoligizes For Wounding Sailor

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—General Chu Chen Kuo, former governor of Shantung, effected a coup d'etat at Chefoo on July 24 in the name of Chang Tsung Chang, American consul Leroy Webber cabled the state department today.

Webber's message stated that the Northern flag has been hoisted; that all the shops are closed, and that the National officials who recently assumed office have either been arrested or have sought asylum at the Japanese consulate.

General Chung assumed the responsibility for the wounding of an American sailor by "presumably a stray bullet" and has offered a written apology. General Chung also assumed responsibility for protecting foreign lives and property, Webber reported.

Women Leaders In France Not "Wild" For Vote

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, July 25.—That the French woman is her worst enemy in the struggle for the vote, is once more being proved by a questionnaire in "La Presse." The majority of the women who have given their opinion on the subject show plainly that the world of politics does not interest them.

"Down with Votes for Women," writes Madame Chiappe, wife of the well-known Prefect of Police. "I think Women Suffrage would be the ruination of French family life.

"The wife who must work to keep the pot boiling is already sufficiently separated from her family by her daily occupations without having political meetings and societies to attend.

"And among the more intelligent classes, there are enough conjugal troubles, more or less serious, without adding those which could very easily arise from differences in political views.

"Certainly, women are more competent than men in solving certain social problems, such as the education of children, children's courts and prohibition, etc., but every woman can exert her influence in the most efficacious manner without going to the polls. Woman's place is in the home, as much today as in the time of our great grandmothers. I admit that an unmarried woman might occupy herself with such questions, but in this case she should never marry."

Madame Rachilde, celebrated French writer ,does not want to vote because it would be "a big nuisance" and she prefers to spend her time doing other things. But she sees no inconvenience for others of her sex to go to the polls if they feel like it and wishes that a few smart women would clean out the house of representatives and senate in France. She does not know much about feminism and acknowledges it.

In all, only some 300,000 French women are connected with organizations formed to fight for the vote or actively supporting the measure which is awaiting the approbation of the senate.

Application of the proverb "People who live in glass houses should not throw stones" may save the League of Nations the trouble of a new investigation.

On the eve of the June session of the league council "Paris Soirz" revealed that Paris is virtually surrounded by tanks of phosgene gas, the asphyxiant that caused 11 deaths into Germany's adherence to the Treaty of Versailles.

With the assurance that the repetition of the Hamburg catastrophe is well nigh impossible in Paris the newspaper said that phosgene gas plays a fundamental role in the dye, drug and perfumery industries.

France has been watchfully waiting official German reaction to the Hamburg explosion. The league will be asked to investigate the storing of poison gas in Germany if authorities there do not make a complete inquiry," a spokesman at the foreign office informed the International News.

Admitting that France legitimately could ask Geneva to interfere in any violation of the peace treaty observers contended that arguments against the use of phosgene gas in German industry would be weakened by the fact it also is needed for the peaceful purposes of Parisian dye manufacturers, perfumers and druggists.

Negro Drummer Of Light Guard In Honor Grave

(International News Service)

HOUSTON, July 25.—A new-made grave in a negro cemetery here will get careful attention as the years come and go, in memory of "Captain" John Sessums, negro drummer of the Houston Light Guard.

The old negro, who died recently, was the only drummer the famous Light Guard ever had.

When Sessums was buried, the prominent and wealthy of the city followed the casket to the cemetery.

Race Forgotten

William States Jacobs, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and one of the state's leading ministers, officiated at the funeral services. Race and creed were forgotten as the aged negro was laid to rest.

Sessums became drummer when the Houston Light Guard was organized in 1873. A few years later the company went to New Orleans to compete with crack drill teams from all over the United States. At that time the negro was working as a janitor in a bank.

Determined to go along with his "boys" as he called members of the Guard, Sessums told his employer he "jes had to go even if the darned ole bank went busted." He went, and lost his job.

A Proud Member

The young men who formed the Light Guard grew to mature age and the Light Guard Veterans Association was formed. Sessums proudly claimed membership in the new organization and beat his drum for them whenever the opportunity offered.

Surrounded by men who had heard him play his drum for nearly half a century, the old nego died in a local hospital for whites while men prominent in the city's commercial and social life choked back their tears.

"Ah'm a black man but a Light Guard," the old fellow proudly whispered a few moments before his death.

Statues are erected to great leaders, but the present cheers are for the man who tells the people something they already know.

The old scul beamed as she replied: "It's all right, I'm sitting on a newspaper."—London Tit-Bits.

Whispering Campaigns Frequently Resorted To

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—A "whispering campaign" is something in politics that I never happened to hear referred to by that particular name until quite recent years.

It's a descriptive enough term, at that.

Suppose one side wants to circulate some lie about a candidate on the other side, without giving him a chance to deny it—or it wants to tell a story to his disadvantage, that it can't substantiate—or it wants to make an accusation against him, that it is ashamed to sponsor—it resorts to a whispering campaign."

* * *

I'm sure all decent folks will agree that a person mean enough to employ such ticktacks would suck eggs or poison a loving grandparent.

Yet there are party workers of some little consequence and lots of experience, who tell me it is necessary in modern politics—just as officers of the chemical warfare service, while deploring the use of toxic gas on the battlefield, insist that it is unavoidable, as long as the enemy does it; in fact, it's much better to beat the enemy to it."

I don't say that the "higher-ups" sanction "whsipering campaigns". I'm not so sure they don't wink at 'em.

* * *

Heaven knows that older-time political candidates used to be lied about.

But in those days the liars came out in the open and told their lies—often, so I've heard, backed up by perjured testimony and forged documents. They didn't "whisper" them and then go hide. They may have been villains, but they weren't such infernal cowards.

The "roorback" was notorious.

The "roorback" was a lie—a deliberate lie—told about a candidate on the very eve of an election, with a view to queering" him at the polls next day—a lie told too late to be answered.

I used to hear a lot about "roorbacks" when I was a kid.

But the "roorback's" author didn't sneak in a dark alley. He proclaimed boldly, "Yes, 'twas my roorback. What are you going to do about it?"

Of course presidential candidates aren't the only ones "whispered" about.

Not so long ago I knew a senatorial aspirant in a nearby state who, bothered a good deal by rivals for the nomination and considering means of eliminating them, reflected out loud—it was to me he said it, so this is no mere heresay—"I'm a great believer in whispering campaigns."

He was just that open-and-above-board about it.

Unfortunately he made an indiscreet political contribution shortly afterward, which has been keeping him abroad ever since.

* * *

Presidentially there probably wasn't any "whispering" four years ago. It wasn't worth while. The contest was too one-sided.

Four years before that, however, Warren G. Harding was viciously "whispered" about.

Much of this campaign's ugly talk—when it gets fairly started—will be more than audible, coming from folks who don't care what they say or who knows they're saying it.

Yet there'll be many others who, with the same ideas to express, won't particularly like going on record as expressing 'em. They'll "whisper".

* * *

It seems to me the old-fashioned "roorback" was more creditable—or a little less discreditable—than today's "whispering campaign."

Trying to assassinate a candidate's character is bad business anyway.

But doesn't it aggravate the offense somewhat to attempt it from ambush?

Indians Coming To Topeka For Curtis Affair

By ROBERT A. HEREFORD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOPEKA, Kansas, July 25.—Senator Charles Curtis, Kansas' candidate for the vice presidency, of the United States, receives the notification of his nomination here, August 18.

Although Topeka naturally claims a pretty big interest in the affair, since the little quarter Indian child who later rose to fame, was born right here in Topeka sixty years ago and had made this his permanent home since, she is not going to be stingy about it. She has invited in the neighbors from the surrounding Kansas towns, and a crowd of 70,000 is expected to be on hand to honor the first Kansas nominee of a major political party.

The wheat bins of the Kansas farmers are bulging from 1928's bumper crop and thousands of the sturdy soil tillers intend to make a harvest festival of the Topeka celebration. With their bank books disclosing accounts which run well into the four and even five figure class, the "militant farmers" will flock around Brother Charlie.

But there is another group which feels that it has a greater claim to the Republican vice-presidential nominee, and which expects to send a delegation to the Topeka Powwow. It is the Kaw Indian tribe of which Curtis, great-grandfather was chief. Although the stoic redmen characteristically do not show their feelings, it is not difficult to see that they are proud of the "chief" among the white men.

Indians Coming

John Palmer, famous lawyer of the Osage tribe of Indians, "cousins" to the Kaws, expressed the pride of the Indian recently when he said:

"Charlie Curtis would be as dark as we are if he lived out in the sun. Charlie was as brown as I am when he was a boy; but many years behind a desk have bleached him out. Two months on the Oklahoma reservation and he would be a redman again."

Topeka is in readiness for the affair which is expected to be the biggest event in the state's history.

Topeka is well able to take care of any crowd up to 100,000, which may flood in upon it. Temporary seats can be arranged for forty or fifty thousands around the state house.

Senator Curtis was as eager to have his notification in Topeka as Topeka was to have him have it here. There were rumors that the ceremony might be held elsewhere.

"I will get my notification in my old home town," Senator Curtis said with a familiar finality in his tone. "I was born and reared there, and I want to be notified of my nomination here."

Youths Have Lucky Escapes As Canoe Upsets In River

(International News Service)

McKEES ROCKS, Pa., July 25.—The dangers of "riding the waves" in the darkness today were firmly impressed upon two local boys who had narrow escapes from drowning in the Ohio river last night when their canoe capsized from the undertow created by a steamboat. One of them, William Rudman, 19, had to be fished from the water by the crew as he fought to keep from being sucked under the boat. The other, Frank Lebun, 20, managed to right the canoe and get to shore. The captain of the steamer reported the matter to river authorities after he put his craft to shore to permit Rudman to land.

CAMBRIDGE, Ohio, July 25.—The distinction of being the first woman to be sentenced in Guernsey county for participation in coal strike disturbances is held today by Mrs. Lottie Giffen, of Lore City. She was fined $50 and sentenced to 30 days in prison, but the jail sentence was suspended before she began service.

Organized Labor To Be Non-Partisan In Presidential Race

Labor Leaders Ask Hoover And Smith To Make Clear Stand On Injunctions

Will Work Within Both Parties To Elect Congressmen Friendly To Cause

By KENNETH CLARK
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Organized labor does not plan to take sides in the present presidential campaign.

Its non-partisan policy is expected to be reaffirmed at the meeting of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor in Atlantic City next week.

Labor will work within both parties to secure election of senators and representatives who are favorable to the federation's legislative program.

Comment Withheld.

While withholding comment in advance of the council meeting, federation officials declared today that organized labor has no grudge either with Secretary of Commerce Herbert Hoover or Governor Al Smith of New York. William Green, president, and other officials, however, do not believe that the anti-injunction planks in either party platform were strong enough. The federation feels that one of the greatest obstacles in the path of labor today is the alleged misuse of injunctive powers by federal and state courts. They point to the coal strike injunctions as examples.

Labor officials have consulted both Hoover and Smith about the injunction question and have requested the candidates to make their positions clear in their acceptance speeches.

Four years ago, at a council meeting in Atlantic City, the federation decided to stray from its non-partisan policy and endorsed the La Follette independent candidacy. Senator La Follette polled less than 5,000,000 votes, and carried but one state, Wisconsin, in the electoral college. Proposals have been made to enlist the federation in a new third party movement which would be built up during the next four years and enter the lists with a presidential candidate in 1932. The movement would be centered around the La Follette-Norris Progressive group in the senate. A cold shoulder has been turned to this project because the present officialdom is irrevocably opposed to a separate Labor party, or a party with labor as a nucleus.

Seek Coal Legislation.

Aside from anti-injunction legislation, the A. F. of L. is most keenly interested in child labor legislation and prohibition. It has stood for modification of the Volstead act to permit sale of beer and wine.

The coal strike may receive serious attention from the council. The Miners Union has made little headway in the fight against the operators, and has now allowed local districts to make wage settlements at a rate below the Jacksonville scale. This is a sharp retreat from the position the union took when the miners walked out a year ago last April. The federation is planning to enlist strongly in the fight for regulatory coal legislation.

Scouts Take Trip To Cook's Forest

New Bedford Troop Spends Friday And Saturday Exploring Woods

On Friday and Saturday of last week the New Bedford Boy Scouts took a trip to Cook's Forest. They report having a fine time and good weather. They left Friday morning and returned Saturday evening, going via New Castle, Harlansburg, and Franklin and returning via Brookville, Clarion, Butler and New Castle.

Friday afternoon and evening were spent exploring the forest trails. Saturday morning most of the party hiked to Seneca Point for a view of the beautiful hills around Cook's Forest. Dinner on Saturday was cooked at Piney Dam on the Clarion river about six miles from Clarion, where the party inspected the dam and power plant. Another stop was made at The Narrows on the Clarion-Butler road. Here the boys watched a passenger train disappear into the tunnel, and also determined definitely that it was impossible for one Scout troop to eat all the ice cream cones and drink all the pop in stock at the refreshment stand.

The boys who took the trip were Herbert and Ralph Boyd, William and Robert Hoye, Floyd and Edwin Harry, Theodore Ropp, Melvin Moorhouse, John Kegarise, Wylie Wallace, David Wortman, James Whiting and Ralph Gilliland. They were accompanied by Scoutmaster Irwin Ropp, former Scoutmaster Harold Bailey and Troop Committeeman Moorhouse.

The party traveled in three automobiles, carrying the camping equipment in a trailer, loaned by Robert McClenahan. There were no accidents or delays to mar the trip. The only "big game" seen were the fish caught by Mr. Moorhouse.

Chiefs Of Police In Convention At Hazelton, Penna.

Fifteenth Annual Convention Of State Police Chiefs Opens Today

(International News Service)

HAZLETON, Pa., July 25.—The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police association today was on record as favoring creation of a state bureau to examine and license automobile mechanics so that highway travel may be properly safeguarded.

A resolution to that effect was adopted at the opening session of the 15th annual convention here. The police heads also advocated adoption of uniform traffic laws throughout the state and today they will consider resolutions favoring laws making the purchase of firearms more difficult.

Tomorrow the election of officers for the coming year will be held and a convention city will be chosen. Among the cities that have extended invitations are Chester, Philadelphia, Uniontown and Bethlehem.

Motorists Who Kill Animals Must Make Report Of Accident

HARRISBURG, July 25.—Motorists who injure or kill cows, pigs, sheep or horses valued at $50 or more will have to file accident reports, according to an opinion given the bureau of motor vehicles, Pennsylvania Department of Highways, by William A. Reiter, the bureau attorney. Mr. Reiter's ruling is as follows:

"Animals such as cows, pigs, sheep and horses are personal property and come within the term 'property damage'. Consequently, accidents involving such animals where the damage amounts to an apparent extent of $50 or more should be reported to this bureau, as required by section 1030. This, however, does not apply in the case of dogs.

"It is impossible to stipulate a general rule where all cases involve animals, as each case will have to be determined on its own merits."

Coolidges Plan Vacation Stay At Yellowstone

President And Family About Decided On Short Pleasure Tour Of National Park

COOLIDGE WILL ENJOY FISHING

Fine Atmosphere Of Yellowstone Park Lures President From Wisconsin Home

(International News Service)

SUPERIOR, Wis., July 25.—The magnificent scenery, invigorating air and fine fishing of Yellowstone National Park will lure President Coolidge away from the Brule river summer White House between the 10th and 15th of August, International News Service learned today.

Tentative plans have been in the making for the past few days for a departure from here between those dates for Yellowstone. A return to Cedar Island lodge for the remainder of the season is problematical. The Coolidges may tour the park in the usual brief fashion and come back to the north woods of Wisconsin or they may arrange for a more protracted stay and then go straight east to Plymouth, Vt., or Northampton, Mass., for several weeks before returning to Washington.

The unusually enjoyable time Mr. Coolidge had during last year's tour of the park, plus the pleas of Mrs. Coolidge and their son John are understood to have prompted the decision to journey away from the Pierce estate on the Brule. The president fished constantly and with great success, all of the five days he was in Yellowstone in the summer of 1927, while Mrs. Coolidge and John found pleasure in the hotel life of the park system after weeks of virtual isolation in the woods.

Also, a nasal ailment known as rose fever of the asthmatic order troubles the executive annually and the altitude of the park figures to afford relief.

WARREN, Pa., July 25.—While police today sought her companion, a girl giving the name of Helen Walters, 25, of Cleveland, O., is in a serious condition in the Warren General hospital here as the result of an attempted suicide in a local hotel.

Police learned that the girl had swallowed a disinfecting fluid in her attempt to take her life. Investigation proved that a man called at the hotel and asked for the girl at the time of the suicide. He disappeared when the girl's screams attracted the hotel clerk to her room.

Woman Leaves Babes; Has Not Returned

Search For Mrs. H. E. Shull Who Left Home Monday, Is Continued

Three children slept peacefully upstairs in the home of H. E. Shull of West Washington street extension Monday evening. The mother put on her hat and coat. The outside door was closed. As yet she has not returned.

Such were the facts reported to the New Castle police station early this morning by Mr. Shull. It happened while he was taking some people to Mahoningtown. When he returned she was gone.

Mrs. Shull according to the description at the police station is 38 years old, small and walks with a slight limp. At the time of her disappearance, she wore shell rim glasses, a light hat and a light coat. For a long time she has not been in good health and this is thought to have something to do with her leaving home.

People in all parts of the county are asked to be on the look out for Mrs. Shull. If she is located it is requested that New Castle 4680 be called on the telephone.

Pennsylvania Railroad Planning Improvements, Will Expend Huge Sum

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—An improvement involving the expenditure of $45,000,000 has been made by the Pennsylvania railroad for developments in Western Pennsylvania, according to a statement made here today by E. T. Whiter, vice president of the road who has been put in direct charge of the program here.

The plan includes building improvements within the city of Pittsburgh and in addition, $20,000,000 will be expended on changes in the line west of Pittsburgh. From the North Side to Rochester, a distance of 25 miles, there is to be a six-track railroad relocated in many places.

Whiter stated that already a part of the gigantic program is under way. The lines along the north bank of the Allegheny river and the south bank of the Monongahela, he said, have been improved by an expenditure of $15,000,000 in the past five years.

To Build Terminal

The first section of the North Side to Rochester improvement is under way between Shields and Glen Osborne, Whiter stated. This section will be completed within a year and will permit work to be started on the section between Rochester and Conway.

Outlining the huge program, Whiter said that in Pittsburgh both freight and passenger terminals will be reconstructed. It is the hope of the Pennsylvania officials, he said, to build the finest produce terminal in the world.

In view of this program in Pittsburgh the railroad company has purchased at a cost of $12,000,000 three pieces of property and has authorized an appropriation of $5,000,000 for immediate construction.

R. B. Mellon, president of the Mellon National Bank and Howard Heinz, president of the H. J. Heinz Company, both of whom are directors of the railroad board, have been largely responsible for bringing about this program of reconstruction, Whiter said.

Rifle Practice For Guardsmen

Members Of 109th Field Artillery Stage Rifle Practice On Ranges Today

BATTLE PROBLEMS TO BE STUDIED

(International News Service)

CAMP GORDON, TOBYHANNA, Pa., July 25.—Shouldering their rifles, members of the 109th Field Artillery, Pennsylvania National Guard marched to the firing range today for a day of practice on the range targets.

Since their arrival in camp here, the guardsmen have been occupied with training and preliminary work on the rifle and pistol ranges as well as drilling in basic military maneuvers.

Yesterday the 109th engaged in pistol practice and received instructions in rolling packs.

Guardsmen of the 107th Field Artillery, spent the day on the range. With almost perfect weather conditions in their favor, many of the guardsmen scored 100 hits and their targets.

Following the day's workout on the range the guardsmen assembled here for formal evening retreat and review.

Within the next few days, the officers of the camp plan to have the study of battle problems under way. These will probably be concluded with battle in which the battalions will skirmish and fire against an imaginary foe.

Already keen competition is noted among the various units who are struggling for the camp's high rating. Army instructors here are closely watching the activities of the units with the view of rating the best unit at the close of camp.

Hollywood Guest At The Castleton

The fame of The Castleton has spread far. Even in Hollywood they know about it, for a few weeks ago, John L. Slack, the manager of the hotel, got an inquiry about permenant rates at the hostelry.

The letter was answered, and in a short time, Miss Jane Ewens, a scenic artist, arrived in New Castle to work on a scenario. For a long time, Miss Ewens has been painting scenery at Hollywood, having worked on some of the biggest sets in recent productions.

At the present time, she is writing a scenario. She is now visiting friends at Morgantown, W. Va., but is expected to return to New Castle within a few days.

DIVORCE HEARING IS CONCLUDED

Respondent In Case Unable To Present Testimony Due To Technicality

Testimony in favor of the libellant in the divorce proceedings of Ruth L. Parr versus Clifton L. Parr was concluded before Judge R. L. Hildebrand early Tuesday afternoon. The counsel for the respondent immediately made an effort to call some eight or nine witnesses that he had present in behalf of the husband, but because of the fact that no answer had been filed by the respondent at the proper time, no witnesses in his behalf could be heard.

A new writ of habeas corpus was issued following the close of the hearing, requiring the husband to produce in court on next Friday, Jean Lenora, the little daughter of the persons involved in the divorce proceedings. This took the place of the one issued Monday morning. An effort was made to serve it on Clifton L. Parr, the respondent and father, before he left the city, but he left without being served with the papers.

It was stated this morning, however, that the little child, which the father took from the home of its grandparents in New Matamoras, O., last Saturday, had been located in Wheeling, W. Va., where it had been taken by the father. The mother and her relatives went to that place today and started habeas corpus proceeding there to recover the child, who is four years and 11 months old.

At the close of the hearing, court was adjourned until Friday morning by Judge R. L. Hildebrand.

Stolen Trees Return, Are Planted, In Night

HARRISBURG, July 25.—That the educaticnal efforts of foresters to bring back the trees upon deforested areas are being well rewarded is evidenced by the story of stolen trees, reported by District Forester V. M. Bearer of the Forbes forest district with headquarters at Ligonier.

Last spring Kenneth Reid of Connellsville planted some choice Norway spruce and white pine transplants on a tract of land which he desired to reforest. He planted them very carefully and was justly proud of his plantation.

One morning last week while showing the plantation to some of his friends he noticed that about 20 of the choicest specimens were removed. Reid and his friends made a diligent search throughout the community and the missing trees were found, carefully planted, on the lawn of one of the residences of Connellsville. He called at the residence but no one answered the door bell. He was sorry to go home without the trees and declared that the trees seemed heartbroken when he failed to take them along.

The following morning Reid examined his plantation to accurately determine how trees were missing, intending to issue a warrant. To his great surprise he found that every tree which had been removed had been returned and carefully planted during the night in the same hole from which they had been taken. Reid says that he is convinced that not only "ships pass by night" but trees as well.

PLAN CONVENTION FOR PITTSBURGH

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—Meeting today to complete plans for a national convention of miners who hope to perfect a new organization based on lines similar to the United Mine Workers of America, the national miners convention arrangements committee made public a statement announcing plans to make membership appeals to unorganized miners, and attacking the officials of the U. M. W.

"By unanimous vote, the national miners convention arrangements committee decided to sever all connections with the Lewis officialdom of the United Mine Workers of America and pay all dues to the new progressive officials recently elected in the mining districts," the statement read.

A convention will be held in Pittsburgh Sept. 9 to 16 to complete plans for the new union.

Efforts also will be made to win members away from the United Mine Workers on the basis of the recent decision of that group's officials to abandon demands for the Jacksonville wage scale.

"Especially in Illinois, where 25,000 miners who are at present receiving the Jacksonville scale of wages will be forced to work under a lesser scale, is the demand for a new union strong," the statement said.

The delegates to the conference here charged that the United Mine Workers "is destroyed by the action of its leadership."

SUNSHINE AIDS Y CAMP SPORTS

Full Day Without Rain Allows Fine Program To Be Enjoyed

Taking advantage of a full day of sunshine double headers both in baseball and volley ball were run off Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. camp for boys on the banks of the Slippery Rock creek.

In the baseball league the Blowouts defeated the Doughboys 10 to 6; the D. R. D.'s beat the Rinkey Dinks 13 to 5. The Rinkey Dinks worsted the Doughboys 5 to 4 and R. D. D.'s toppled the Blowouts 5 to 2.

In volley ball the Blowouts bowled over the Doughboys 3 to 0; the D. R. D.'s nosed out the Rinkey Dinks 3 to 2; the Doughboys beat he Rinkey Dinks 3 to 2; and the D. R. D.'s vanquished the Blowouts 4 to 1.

During the day Don Freeman and "Boss" Ryhal each landed a fine catfish at the camp, "Angler's heaven."

The Butler Y. M. C. A. campers visited the New Castle camp to play baseball but darkness stopped the game in the second inning. The contest will be played in the near future.

Campfire was featured last night by a marshmallow toast, through the courtesy of James Sotus. Talks were given by J. C. Leonard and Henry McNicholas followed by campfire yarns.

Grant Remus Time To Prove Why He Should Stay Here

Labor Department Thinks Remus Should Be Deported As Undesirable

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The Labor Department today granted George Remus an extension until October 1 to produce proof that he is a citizen of the United States and is not subject to deportation as an undesirable alien.

Remus appeared before the board of inquiry and stated that because of his recent difficulties he had been unable to produce certain records to establish his citizenship.

The records show that Remus was born in Germany and was brought to this country by his parents while an infant.

Doubt exists whether his father was naturalized in Chicago and it was upon this ground that the department sought to deport him.

A Landslide for CHRYSLER!

Chrysler's New Style and Value Sweep the Country and Thousands Rush to Buy!

In every principal city of the country people are examining, admiring and buying the new style introduced by Chrysler.

They are universally voicing the sentiment that the new "75," "65" and the new Chrysler-built Plymouth are—each in its class—the greatest dollar's worth in beauty, style and quality ever offered.

Metropolitan New York had the tremendous total of 109,000 persons with 1,500 retail orders, totaling more than $2,000,000.00, for the new Chrysler Products.

In Detroit, the center of the industry, nearly 42,000 saw the new cars the first four days. Chrysler dealers sold 652 cars—more than $750,000 worth—in that time. Chicago drew 32,000 to the Coliseum and made 443 retail sales.

Philadelphia had 50,000 and took 309 retail orders. Cleveland's attendance was 10,000 in one day—sales 166 cars.

Portland, Ore., showed to 16,000 and sold nearly $100,000 worth in a day. San Francisco reported 210 retail orders. Kansas City's opener was to 3,000 persons and sold 61 cars.

Flint, Mich., drew 5,000 persons and sold 44 cars. Baltimore's attendance was 3,000 in one day and the district sold over 300 cars. Texas points were busy—El Paso with 5,000 attendance and 19 sales—Dallas 1,265 people and 26 cars in a day and Beaumont showing to 1,000 people and selling 22 automobiles.

Everywhere everyone agrees that, indeed, Chrysler has done it again—that Chrysler has provided a wholly new style and performance—unmatched in attractiveness—and strengthening the value leadership of this great company.

Chrysler acknowledges with sincerest gratitude this endorsement and will spare no efforts to continue to merit this expression of public confidence.

Field Museum Gets Two Stuffed Lions

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 25.—"The two man eating lions of Tsavo," whose depredations form one of the most extraordinarily stories of killings by animals on record, have been mounted and will be exhibited at the Field Museum of Natural History, Chicago, according to announcement of the directors.

One hundred and thirty-five men were killed and eaten by the pair of lions on their murderous expeditions through British East Africa, the records show.

Included in this list are a number of white men, 28 coolies, and more than 100 East Indian and African laborers struck down by the giant paws. Most of the laborers were employed in construction of the Uganda railway, which stretches a tenuous contact with civilization through the jungles of Tsavo, 130 miles in the interior of British East Africa.

The man-eaters of Tsavo, however, established a record for killing that brought notice from the British government.

The ravages of the two lions which are to be exhibited here for a time stopped construction of the Uganda railroad. Struck with fear the natives refused to continue their work through the jungles. As man after man was killed and eaten the natives returned to their kraals and would not venture out.

Colonel J. H. Patterson of Great Britain, killed the animals. One of them charged as he fired and did not drop until five yards from him, his report said. Stanley Field, president of the museum purchased and donated the specimens.

"Don't Make Your Vacation One Of Gastronomic Orgies"

DR. THEODORE E. APPEL

"Vacation time is considered by many as an invitation to keep their stomachs brim-full for a solid two weeks' stretch," said Dr. Theodore B. Appel, state secretary of health, today.

"One has but to visit the dining room of any resort hotel to realize that intemperance is by no means a limited term. Hundreds of men and women will daily indulge in gastronomic orgies during the vacation period on the simple theory that the food is paid for and consequently must be consumed. Fat dowagers, corpulent and already over-fed men consistently attempt to 'break the hotel kitchen', only to find themselves daily at the end of their encounter uncomfortably laden with a quantity of excess provender. With little or no exercise, and combustion consequently at its lowest ebb, these people bemoan their fate and frequently wonder why they do not derive more benefit from their annual outing.

"And what is true of these dining-room fanatics also applies to others, who while not displaying untoward tendencies at table, stuff themselves and their progeny between meals with every sort of edible jim-crack and tasty lure.

"As a matter of fact, people whose main vacation purpose is to eat everything they can get their hands upon both inside and outside the hotel have lost the point of the whole matter.

"Naturally one does not want to be abstemious when on the annual pilgrimage to the shore or mountain; good food palatably served should certainly be a factor in all vacations. Even luxuries have their place on the two weeks' outing program. Be that as it may, your stomach will thank you most feelingly, if your desire for food is placed on a rational basis, and efforts to devour everything in sight are not attempted.

"Remember, that the real vacation involves change of scene, separation from the every day hum-drum, rest, fresh air and health building habits.

"While you may go to the finest resort in the United States, while you may leave business worries at home, while you may live outdoors as much as possible, much of the good will be lost if you persist in the natural inclination to overload your stomach three times a day and between times as well.

"Appreciate the fact that your stomach does not relish hard work on vacation any more than you do. So don't impose too much on that good old organ. It can kick back. Vacation overloading frequently causes it to do so. Eat, but don't try to eat it all."

Chicago Italian Is Shot To Death

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, July 25.—Roaring guns of "Little Italy" flashed fire again Tuesday and killed Joseph Caterinatta, 60, a block from notorious "death corner."

Two policemen stationed a block away to trap a murderer heard the shots and turned to see the body of the victim sprawled in the street with two smoking guns by his side.

Police could learn nothing of the descriptions of the slayers or the motive for the killing.

TWO KILLED WHEN CAR RUNS WILD

When Motorman Frank McFarren left this Pittsburgh, Pa., street car to carry a woman who had sprained her ankle to a doctor's office, at Braddock, Pa., a suburb, it ran away down a hill, jumped the track, hit an auto and smashed it through a store front, killing two, a woman and a small girl, and injuring many more. McFarren managed to get back on the car, but was unable to stop it. Above is the car and below the wrecked store.

NOW LOOKS AND FEELS LIKE A DIFFERENT LADY

Ten Herbs Made Wonderful Change, She Says; Stomach And Nerves Benefited.

"Since using Ten Herbs I have undergone a wonderful change for the better," was the statement of Mrs. Anna Humburg, 221 Meredith Street, Carrick, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), according to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this popular medicine.

"For a long time I had been troubled with my stomach," Mrs. Humburg continued. "Even the lightest kind of food would ferment and cause a great amount of gas to form. I was terribly bloated and in constant misery. My nerves were so bad that I could not sleep at night, and I got so weak that I could not do my housework. I think I was on the verge of a nervous break-down. Neuritis was so bad in my shoulders that I could not raise my arms above my head. I had hot flashes and rushes of blood to my head. My whole system seemed to be upset and in need of a thorough cleansing. I was discouraged, as I had tried many different medicines without being benefited.

"After reading the statements of many local people, all praising Ten Herbs, I started using your medicine. Now I look and feel like a different woman. I have a normal appetite and can eat anything without misery afterwards—no more gas, bloating, or belching. My nerves are stronger. I get a good night's sleep and arise feeling rested and refreshed. I have more energy and ambition. The neuritis pains in my shoulders have been greatly relieved and only occasionally do I feel a slight twinge. Ten Herbs does not work on one organ alone, but seems to give the whole digestive tract a thorough cleansing. I gladly endorse your medicine to the public".

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Rev. Thomas Will Preach Farewell

Pastor Of Emmanuel Baptist Church To Conclude Ten Year Pastorate Here

By W. A. JOHNS.

Ten years of service as a pastor of the Emmanuel Baptist church of this city will come to a close next Sunday when the pastor, Rev. Emrys Thomas, preaches his final sermon.

It was just ten years ago that he was called to the local church from the Edwardsville Baptist church of Edwardsville, Pa., at which place he was pastor for a period of two years. At that time some time passed before the Edwardsville church agreed to release Rev. Thomas in order to permit him to undertake his charge in New Castle, but finally they granted him permission.

Now the same condition arises in the local Emmanuel church. The congregation is slow to part with him and his great personality. But when the congregation saw that greater things await Rev. Thomas, it was unanimously agreed to permit him to go to his native land of Wales.

Next Sunday evening Rev. Thomas will preach his farewell sermon to the congregations of the Emmanuel Baptist and the First Congregational church, the latter having cancelled its regular service for the evening in order to join with the Emmanuel church in expressing their appreciation of Rev. Thomas' service during the period of time he has been located here

A special musical treat is being arranged by the choir leader, Charles Richards, and there is no doubt that there will be some fine singing when the two choirs combine to express their feelings at this farewell service.

Anyone who cares to, may attend the service Sunday evening.

Rev. Thomas succeeded the Rev. Clifford S. Joshua, who came to the local church from Charleroi.

Bodenheim Is Still In Hiding

Blonde Barbara Young Waits For Chance To Meet Eccentric Poet

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 25.—Characterizing herself as the panacea for the multitudinous ills besetting Maxwell Bodenheim, blonde Barbara Young today waited for the eccentric poet of Greenwich Village to emerge from his hiding and be healed.

"I'm the only one who can save him from his complexes," Barbara explained with the air of a physician sure of her medicines.

Barbara said he broke an appointment with her when he fled to escape notoriety incident to the river suicide of Virginia Drew, 24, another literary client of the poet-novelist. He wanted advice under those trying circumstances.

Now she hopes he will make a fresh engagement and lay bare his troublous spirit. Bodenheim variously is reported to be hidden in the village, in Maine, in Chicago and in Canada.

No one has been discovered who has laid eyes on him since Sunday, when Dr. Martin Loeb overtook his 17-year-old daughter, Gladys, still another worshipper of Bodenheim, as she was bound for the Bodenheim shack at Provincetown art colony.

Gladys is under close watch of her mother today in a Catskill Mountain village. The Loebs have vowed she is through with Max Bodenheim forever—whether Gladys takes a negative attitude or not.

RADIO STATIONS TO LEARN FATE

Some 162 To Have Existence Determined When Decree Is Effective, Aug. 1

WASHINGTON, July 25.—On August 1, 162 radio stations ordered off the air will have their fate determined, when the extermination decree becomes effective.

This was the announcement of Commissioner Pickard after a session of the federal radio commission here today. The new allocation plan will also be disclosed soon.

About 50 of the 163 stations not represented in person before the board in their hearings held the last few weeks will be discontinued summarily. The exact status of the others will be determined after the long list of investigations have been finished.

The assignment policy is up to the sub-committee, composed of Pickard and Caldwell. The latter believes that those stations now having the ear of the public should be permitted to continue without interference. The first draft before the board will probably contain this clause. The reaction of the members of the board is not known.

Gangsters Claim Another Victim In Pittsburgh; Aged Merchant Is Slain

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—Gangdom hacked another notch in its gun handle today while police searched Pittsburgh's underworld for traces of the four gunmen who shot to death Nicholas Landolins, 75, produce merchant, as he watered a flower garden in front of his home here.

A revolver, with which, witnesses say, the aged man attempted to protect himself, was shot from his hand by the gangsters, who fired three fatal shots from a touring car.

Detectives investigating the murder say Landolins had received threatening letters.

Chicago Chatter

BY IONE QUINBY

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Styles change in suicide just as they do in hair cuts, the length of dresses and the width of trousers. At one period there was an epidemic of ending one's life by shooting. Then it was drowning, and later bichloride of mercury took its toll. Recently a large number of persons have ended their lives by jumping out of skyscraper windows in Chicago.

Probably Martin Jeffers, veteran bridge tender of the Clark street bridge, knows more would-be suicides personally than any other man in Chicago. Jeffers and his assistant, Frank Ward, have saved as many as thirty would-be suicides, who later thanked them for saving them from the watery graves. Clark street bridge is known as Suicide Bridge because of the large number of men and women who have jumped off the bridge into the Chicago river. Since fewer persons commit suicide by drowning, Jeffries hasn't so much to do.

Clark street bridge is also called the "Bridge of Fate." It was here the Eastland went down with more than a thousand picnicers while tied to the dock some years ago. And this was the usual docking place of the ill-fated Christmas tree ship, "Rouse Simmons," which docked each Yuletide at the spot where the Eastland capsized. The Christmas tree ship, with its load of Christmas trees, went down in a heavy winter storm in Lake Michigan, in 1912, with all hands, including Captain Herman Schuenemann. During the holidays, Chicagoans used to take their children aboard the ship to purchase Christmas trees. For years it was one of the city's most picturesque customs.

The Dill Pickle club in Tooker's alley has the hardest door to find in Chicago. It's like playing "Button, Button, Who's Got the Button," to find it. Entering Tooker's alley in "Towertown" (Chicago's Greenwich Village), the place resembles one solid wall. The door is a secret one which you have to find by moving your hand along the wall until you get to a section that pushes in. It's a sort of hidden panel. The Dill Pickle is run by Jack Jones, who invariably wears dingy looking overalls, disreputable old shoes and no hat, even when he walks down Boul, Mich. This is Bohemia's most notorious hangout.

Capitalizing on hard luck brings a considerable wad of extra dough to an enterprising trucker of theatrical properties, who has his headquarters on Wells street. Two years ago he did a lot of hard work, getting the wardrobe trunks and stage properties for a new show over to their proper place. The show went broke, and all he managed to get out of his work was a truck full of Santa Claus costumes which he hadn't delivered. Instead of "cussing," he waited 'til Christmas came 'round, and put an "ad" in the paper, stating he would supply Santa Clauses for private entertainments and home Christmas parties.

He dressed up four of his truck drivers and rented them out at $10 an hour. It worked so well in private families where usually father is roped into playing Santa Claus for his progeny, that next year he's going to hire extra men for the night before Christmas. Fathers who've had Jim or Bill suddenly recognize their tan shoes or pull off their false whiskers aren't keen for the job.

TWO CHILDREN DROWN IN OHIO

Dragging Ohio River For Bodies Of Two Beaver County Boys

The other lad, Rocco Dimaiolo, 11, of Ambridge, was riding in a tub boat. He lost his rubber ball in the water and when leaning over fell into the river. Due to the operations of sand dredges here it is believed he fell into one of the deep holes.

The Diary of a New Yorker

by CLARK KINNAIRD

Exclusive Central Press Dispatch to New Castle News.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Because of traffic conditions, out-of-towners who come here to see the sights by auto find it desirable to put the car into a garage for the duration of their stay and see the city by subway, bus and taxi.

• • •

My only use for Harlem is as a place to get things like southern fried chicken, corn pone, cream gravy, old-fashioned short cake and such other foods as are known only in poorly imitated form in other sections of New York. Negroes are among the happiest of the world's people, and one reason is that they like to eat and know how to do it.

Harlem revels not only in the foods to which the southern states owe the negro an appreciable debt, but also a variety of other palate-tickling dishes brought into the section by blacks from the West Indies, South America, and even from Africa. For Harlem is the Paris of the blacks, their great crossroads of the world.

Chicken is not, as is popularly supposed, the most favored of negro comestibles. Pork has that distinction. And negroes utilize portions of the hog almost unknown to "white folks" in the preparation of unforgetable dishes. There are, for instance, chitterlings, which are a part of the intestines. They are boiled for hours with salt and spices. Ah-h-h! They are the richest of all foods in pepsin, and hence are a reason why negroes have good digestions.

And there is the tanyan, a food from the tropics which is imported especially for Harlem's use. It comes from the West Indies, and is something like a combination of potato and artichoke. Another popular vegetable is the eddo, likewise a tuber. Another Harlem vegetable is the fines, which are like small squashes and cucumbers. Cut into strips, they are made savory in soups and stews.

Harlem knows the yam, or sweet potato, in an infinite variety. Huge yams from the West Indies, weighing two or three pounds, are baked, fried and otherwise made into dishes that no sound palate can do ought but glory in. And Harlem loves sugar cane. Stalks of it are sold in season as a confection. And one recounting Harlem's foods mustn't forget the baked bananas and baked plantains, the latter being a somewhat larger-sized banana wtih a slightly different taste.

I'm hungry.

Will Inspect Food At County Fairs

Mercer County Medical Director To Appoint Inspector For Foodstuffs

MERCER, Pa., July 25.—All food sold at county fairs will be inspected and the equipment used also inspected, it is announced today by Dr. S. J. Dickey, county medical director.

The doctor has been advised that an inspector will be sent him during the time of holding of the two fairs in this county.

The fairs include the Stoneboro exhibition on the dates of September 1, 3, 4, 5, and the Mercer fair, on the dates of September 11, 12, 13, 14.

The same ruling of medical inspection of food handlers that has been the law for some time will obtain in the holding of the fairs also.

It is not the intent of the department to make this ruling a nuisance or objectionable, but merely to safeguard public health.

Concessionaires who do conduct clean places will welcome such a regulation, as it imposes no hardship on them. Those who are working it otherwise can look out for themselves.

MIKE JERVOS FACES LIQUOR LAW CHARGE

Mike Jervos, South Jefferson street, was on Tuesday sent to the county jail by Alderman Green, where he will be held in default of $1,500 bail for a hearing on the charge of having had in his possession a quantity of liquor. He was arrested by County Detective William Fleming.

Don't fool yourself:

Since halitosis never announces itself to the victim, you simply cannot know when you have it.

Halitosis makes you unpopular

If you are not as popular as you wish to be, look for the cause. Possibly it is halitosis (unpleasant breath)—the unpardonable social offense.

It is impossible for you to tell when you have halitosis. It never announces itself to you.

The one way to be sure of not having it is to rinse the mouth systematically every day with Listerine—especially before meeting others.

Being a powerful deodorant, it immediately ends halitosis.

If you have any doubt of its power as a deodorant, rub a little onion on your hand. Then apply Listerine clear. Immediately the odor is gone. Even the odor of fish yields to it.

Don't take chances of offending your friends and business associates when simply by using Listerine, you can put yourself on the polite, agreeable side. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

Wichita Planning Union Air Station

(International News Service)

WICHITA, July 25.—"Get out of your airplane, Mister! Your Pullman leaves the union air passenger station in five minutes for the coast" field employees of the new municipal airport will be telling eastern business men making a hurried call to the Pacific coast soon according to indications here.

It will be with a mingled air of pride and exultation that Wichita has completed what promises to be the most modern airport in the country that these employees will give the commands to the hurried easterners. The new municipal port under construction is the crowning work of the untiring efforts of an enlightened city administration backed by an enthusiastic citizenry in an effort to make the city as important as the terminal point for transcontinetal air traffic as it has become in the manufacture of the airplanes themselves.

The new airport will have the unique feature of a union station for the air passengers and for transfer to the Santa Fe railway's line to the coast.

The National Air Transit company and the Transcontinental Air Transit company officials view this added Pullman service afforded by the Santa Fe, pioneering as it is in the matter as a needed service. Many of the passengers from the east do not care to make the entire trip to the coast by air. Rather than await the departure of the company's planes the following morning, many prefer to make the trip over the mountains by trains, the officials claim.

Mrs. Balter tried to avoid hitting the child, but it was impossible. The child was rushed to the local hospital, where she is being given every medical attention.

A report from the hospital this morning stated that little Antionette suffers a skull fracture.

Commission Bans Fair "Rasslers"

Carnival Prize Fighters Are Barred By State Athletic Commission

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Another institution is passing—the carnival prizefighter or "rassler" who challenges all comers.

The thrill that came when the home town pride stepped forward and volunteered to meet the scowling, cauliflower-eared terror, whom the carnival barker called the "uncrowned heavyweight champeen", now becomes something to remember. For, though the carnival may return, the big punch and parry men won't be there.

The knell of his passing is sounded by the Pennsylvania State Athletic commission in an announcement to the effect that carnivals which hold unlicensed boxing or wrestling shows will be "punishable to the full extent of the law." The commission also asks "the cooperation of the local police throughout the state in stopping these bouts."

Corruption Shown In Philadelphia At Voting Polls

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—Drinks were served male voters, the ballots were computed hours before the polls closed and the ballot boxes "stuffed" after they had been closed, in the Fifth Division of the First Ward here in the 1926 election, according to testimony submitted today in the hearing on the contested Vare-Wilson senatorial election, which is being conducted in city hall by Senator Waterman, R., of Colorado.

The testimony was submitted by Joseph J. Penczak, 33, who served as an election registrar here for five years. In 1926, Penczak said, he was employed by the organization supporting the candidacy of Senator-Elect William S. Vare to "get out the vote," in other words, he said, as a "door bell puller." He has since been dismissed as an election registrar.

The Knockout Thrill

By QUIN HALL.

WHEN Tom Heeney was chosen by Tex Rickard to meet Gene Tunney in this year's Battle of the Century a cry immediately went up that neither of the big boys carried the old sleep-producing wallop, and, as a consequence, the affair would be as colorless as a muslin sheet tossed on a snow-covered field.

The boys who support the beak busters have grown accustomed to seeing good healthy socking in the ranks of the heavyweights when it came to these championship affairs. Naturally, they rather bemoaned the fact that two scrappers, neither of whom carries a K. O. punch, were to battle for the honor.

They were rather inclined to listen to Tex Rickard's prediction of a gate which would run from a million and a half to two million by laughing up their sleeves. They couldn't take Tex seriously. They couldn't figure how the public could be inveigled into loosening up that sort of coin on a boxing match when the past history of the classic has always featured at least one fellow with a terrific punch.

Now, however, with the big bout only a few days away, the complexion of the affair seems to have changed. About a month ago the word sprinkled out of Speculator, N. Y., the training camp site of the champion, that Tunney had regained his knockout punch. According to the report, Gene was again using his right hand, and with enough accuracy and power to satisfy the customers who like their heavyweight championship bouts served up with heavy socking.

Gene, as will be recalled, used to be in the habit of bowling over his opponents. In fact, he had a record of fifteen consecutive knockouts immediately after his return from service with the Marines in France. It was with this right hand wallop that he made his first bid for boxing fame. But he developed an inflammation of the skin of the bone, known technically as periostitis, and his K. O. punch disappeared. Following his layoff at Miami Beach last Winter, however, it completely healed, and it is said that he is tossing that knockout right with a savagery heretofore unknown.

Billy Vidabeck, the sock barometer of the Tunney camp, who has been training with the champion for the past three years, says that Tunney is socking across his right with the speed of a flyweight's jab and with the power of a pile driver. Vidabeck says also that it is next to impossible to get out of its path, and adds that somebody is sure to get hurt in all of Tunney's future bouts.

If Gene has really regained the power in that right hand of his the customers may yet see a knockout punch delivered Thursday night at the Yankee Stadium. Even Heeney may have been nursing along a secret wallop which he will turn loose against the champion and if both of the battlers should spring a surprise sock on the audience at the Yankee Stadium what a fight it would be!! What a fight!!

All of the former heavyweight champions were what is known in the pugilistic racket as "sockers." Dempsey, Jeffries, Fitzsimmons and ol' John L. Sullivan were outstanding examples of the spirit of sock. It was their reputation of crashing an opponent down which packed the customers in to see 'em and the public still seems to have a craving for the pile driving swats.

And if Thursday night's entertainment developes a new sock artist the boys who miss seeing it will be out back of the barn kicking themselves Frida; morning.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN
Sports Writer for Central Press and New Castle News

Waiting until the first flush of resentment over the action of the tennis officials had died down, I made as comprehensive a one-man survey of the feelings of tennis fans as an individual in the ordinary walk of life could.

With the results that:

I find 95 per cent of the sports fans of all types are with Tilden in the mess and that:

Seventy-five per cent of the fans resent the action to the extent of voicing their sentiment that the net officials have absolutely no defense for their action.

Tilden was barred from participation in the Davis cup matches because of his infraction of an amateur rule regulating the literary efforts of players participating in tournaments.

Why waste time over the technicalities of the rule or its violation? It was an "inner office" rule. It had no standing in foreign countries. Anyone who attempts to argue that the measure of punishment meted out was in keeping with the magnitude of the offense is punch drunk crazy.

But the inconsistency of the thing is not confined to that. The U. S. Lawn Tennis Association, six months ago, turned to Bill Tilden as the Moses to lead the U. S. tennis team. Those of the tennis body with vision, foresight and sportsmanship, saw to it that obstacles which made Tilden's association with the body unpleasant were removed.

Then, with Tilden and his proteges about ready to reap some reward from their labors, someone with a sour stomach threw the organization off its balance. With the chairman of the association and the head of the Davis cup committee on the high seas, the stay-at-homes went wild again.

The fact that the move blasted America's slim hopes of turning back the French champs is incidental, it seems to me, alongside the slap in the face handed Tilden personally.

Can anyone with fair intelligence defend an action based on such a minor point that robs Tilden of his last opportunity to fight for the cup which he helped bring to America and then defended so ably for years?

What satisfaction can those who voted for the disbarment get out of their action?

Was the move necessary to preserve the so-called amateur status of the sport?

Was the move in the interest of sportsmanship?

Was it prompted by a sincere desire on the part of one or more members of the governing heads to hold to the spirit of the rules?

Or was it a deliberate effort on the part of some individual or faction to strike at Tilden or Chairman Joseph Wear or some other individual by enforcing the exact letter of the rule?

A rule, we repeat, that was of piffling importance in comparison to the basic principles of sportsmanship which should govern the game.

The association exhausted 2,000 words trying to defend its action.

Which probably speaks louder than that many more words of discussion in this column regarding the idiocy of their action.

Rene LaCoste, champion net star of the U. S. and England, has announced his refusal to defend his American title at Forest Hills this September.

Baptists Topple Christians 3-0

The First Baptist team applied the kalsomine brush to the Central Christians in a church league game at the Lehigh field on Tuesday night. The final score was 3 to 0.

Honkonen on the knoll for the Baptists was effective at all times and allowed the heavy hitting Christians but one safe blow and fanned five batters. The Baptists had seven hits off Lewis and Jones.

Johnson at short played a whale of a game for the Baptists, accepting nine chances without an error. Young led the Baptists at bat. Four errors marred the play of the Christians.

Soviets Plan First Clock Factory Ever Operated In Russia

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, July 25.—Plans for the first watch and clock factory Russia has ever had are being drawn up by the Soviet industrial planning commission. The plant is expected to be ready in a year and turn out two million alarm clocks and a million cheap watches annually.

A watch heretofore regarded as a luxury by the Soviets has become a symbol of the Americanization of Russia. It means punctuality, and factory managers hope to cut down the appalling loss of time caused by the common excuse of workers: "We didn't know what time it was."

A Swiss company applied for a watch concession, but the negotiations failed. The Soviets then determined to build their own plant. Experts have been sent to the United States, Germany and Switzerland to study production methods and buy machinery.

Destroy All Weeds Around Small Trees

Tree Planters Asked By State Department To Take Care Of Seedlings

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, July 25.—Officials of the department of forests and waters today urged all forest tree planters to destroy the growth of weeds and grass about recently planted seedlings. The unusually heavy rainfall of spring and summer has caused weeds and grass to thrive.

Dense weed growth which prevents sunlight reaching the seedlings will cause them to wither and die, officials said. Removal of the growth regularly on the other hand will permit the seedlings to benefit from the wet weather, it was pointed out.

In removing grass and weeds, planters were asked to use care not to damage or cut the tender tops of the seedlings.

District foresters have been instructed to keep watch over large plantations in their districts where the owners do not cooperate in protecting the seedlings.

The millennium will be here soon after all classes of people agree on the definition of "good people".

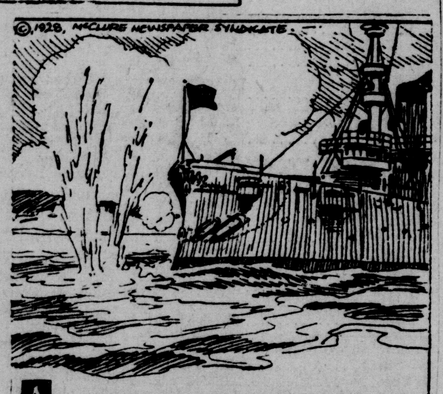
The Story Of Our War With Spain
The Bombardment Of The Matanzas Forts

ON APRIL 27, 1898, THE CRUISER "NEW YORK", WITH THE "OINCINNATI" AND THE MONITOR "PURITAN" OF SAMPSON'S BLOCKADING FLEET IN CUBAN WATERS, APPROACHED THE PORT OF MATANZAS, 50 MILES EAST OF HAVANA, TO RECONNOITER SPANISH FORTIFICATIONS BEING BUILT AT THAT PLACE.



AS THE AMERICAN WARSHIPS ADVANCED TOWARD THE ENTRANCE OF THE HARBOR, THEY WERE GREETED BY A SHOWER OF SHOTS FROM THE SPANISH BATTTERIES, ALL OF WHICH WENT WIDE OF THE MARK.

THE AMERICANS RETURNED THE FIRE WITH DEADLY ACCURACY, AND WITHIN FIFTEEN MINUTES THE BATTERIES HAD BEEN SILENCED AND THE FORTIFICATIONS LAID IN RUINS. GENERAL BLANCO, THE SPANISH COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF, TRIED TO SUPPRESS NEWS OF THIS AMERICAN SUCCESS.

HE DECLARED THAT THE ONLY SPANISH LOSS WAS A MULE KILLED ON THE BEACH. THIS STATEMENT APPEALED TO THE AMERICAN SENSE OF HUMOR AND THE "MATANZAS MULE" BECAME A POPULAR EXPRESSION FOR THE SPANISH PRACTICE OF CONCEALING CASUALTIES.

TWO DAYS RACE MEET STARTS FRIDAY

Del Rico To Race Friday

Dr. Scott And Van Lou Entered In The 2:14 Pace

TRAMPBLYTHE IS IN 2:30 EVENT

By ED. FRITZ

Two more days and the field at the New Castle track will get the word from Starter Harry Goll, and when they do and the track is right, which Bert Dinsmore says it will be, harness race fans of this city will see the classiest card ever arranged for the local track. The races Friday and Saturday, four events each day, are being staged by officials of the Progressive Coal, Oil and Iron circuit.

One hundred and twenty-five horses, among them a number of great circuit horses, are quartered here, and when the entries close this afternoon fans can rest assured that they'll see real horse flesh—not sellin' platers.

Classy Entries

For instance, take the 2:16 trot, which is carded for Friday afternoon, in which Del Rico, 2:13 1-4; Volo Master and Axworth Patch are entered. That will be some race. Del Rico, Volo Master and Axworth Patch are the outstanding horses, but there'll be other horses in the race that will make 'em step along to win on the three-heat plan, which means that every race is a heat.

In the 2:14 pace Dr. Scott and Van Lou will be the outstanding horses or favorites, but this doesn't say they will win, not at all, as no horse race is finished until the last wire is passed and the judges clock 'em in.

The slow class pace of 2:30 should be good, and when the horses start Trampblythe will be among the entries. Trampblythe has raced all over the Grand Circuit and is well liked. The horse is owned by Vance & McCormick.

Horses Being Worked

Early morn and afternoon finds the drivers and trainers working out their horses around the half-mile oval at the fair grounds. Bob Taylor will be clerk of the course. The starter will be Harry Goll, but the judges are not yet named.

A feature of the meet will be a parade of all horses to the post before the races start at two o'clock Friday, carrying over into Saturday.

Peter Hancock Is Here

Trainer Charlie Sipe arrived here today with his racing stable, prominent among which are Peter Hancock, a classy pacer with a mark of 2:08¼ made over a half mile track and no doubt he will be a stumbling block for Worthy Lord in the 2:11 pace on Friday.

Axworth Patch will start in the 2:16 trot on the same afternoon and will race against Del Rico, Volo Master, Sancho, Binolite and a few more fast trotters for the honors in that class and the 2:16 trot should be a world of contest.

Napoleon Star Is Great

The writer witnessed Napoleon Star in action and besides being a beautiful piece of horse flesh he had a world of speed. Trainer Seeley stated today that his charge, who by the way is a son of that grand old race horse Napoleon Direct, 1:59 3-4, never felt better and is expecting some good results in the pacing stake. Seeley drove Victor Frisco here, it will be recalled.

Despite the recent heavy rains the track is in excellent condition and with the parade of the horses to the post as in the Grand Circuit the management anticipates a crowd of thousands. There'll be something doing each minute, even to music as Arch Cubbison's orchestra will play between heats.

Tunney Granted New York License To Battle Heeney

New York Boxing Commission Glad To Give Heavyweight King License

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 25.—The New York commission Tuesday gladly did something it declined, without thanks, to do in 1926. It granted Gene Tunney a license to box in this state for the heavyweight championship of the world on Thursday night. Two years ago, as challenger, the board would have no part of Tunney, thus forcing Tex Rickard to take the first Dempsey-Tunney fight to Philadelphia Today, as champion—well, that was slightly different.

Tunney's opponent in Thursday night's clash for the championship, Tom Heeney, already is licensed under the laws of New York.

Giants Win Over Pirates

Dawson Runs Into Trouble In Fifth When Giants Find Range

NEW YORK, July 25.—Ralph Dawson had a bad fifth inning yesterday when the Giants clustered six hits, including a homer by Melvin Ott with two on the paths, the Pirates lost 6 to 3. Dawson was hit 11 times and Benton 12, Lloyd Waner getting three. The Giants' batting order was changed with Welsh in the lead-off and Cohen filling seventh place. O'Doul followed Welsh and Ott hit before Lindstrom. The box score:

By DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor International News Service

NEW YORK, July 25.—New York was calm to the point of virtual neutrality this morning on the eve of its first heavyweight championship prize fight since 1923, remaining unmoved and even unimpressed, in spite of the fact that, within a comparative 24 hours, Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney are to have at it for the greatest honor within the gift of professional boxing. Prominent hotels in the Broadway district report no unusual volume of business. Neither of the two great railway systems, the New York Central and the Pennsylvania, has discovered a necessity for running special trains to the scene. Ticket speculators are non-active for the first time in years.

By this time the fact virtually has been established that Tex Rickard's golden touch is to fail him for once; that it will produce no bonanza tomorrow night. If his show plays to a crowd of better than 55,000 and his gate yields better than a million dollars, he will be doing all that a reasonable man can expect.

He will need slightly more than a millio nto return even a tacit profit on the transaction, for he has guaranteed Tunney $525,000, Heeney $100,000, the rental of the Yankee stadium and other expenses may reach as high as $150,000 more, and he must pay the new federal tax himself out of the total receipts. Indications today were strictly against the gate grossing a great deal more than the million in question.

A direct line on this was furnished in a check-up with the hotels and railroads. When Dempsey and Carpentier met in 1921 and Dempsey and Firpo in 1923, special trains bore groaning loads of fans to the scene from all sections of the land and hotels were forced to double up with their guests almost indiscriminately. But this time Dempsey is no more; he will be only a spectator. And so hotels like the Pennsylvania, Astor, Belmont and others report that overnight reservations are just slightly beyond the custom of transient applications and the railroads say they have decided their regular trains can accommodate the traveling public on the day of the fight.

According to its traffic department, the Pennsylvania originally planned the running of fight specials from various cities, but abandoned the idea "because indications are that travel tomorrow isn't what we were led to expect it would be." The New York Central likewise declared that it had found the running of special trains unnecessary, but that special cars, attached to its regular trains, were being routed into New York from Buffalo, Toledo, Detroit, Cleveland and Chicago. A few cars, owned by millionaire sportsmen, and a number of small parties, booked in adjoining sections of the regular Pullmans, was the sum total of the remaining travel expected, it was added.

In any case, say the railroads and hotels, their business will bear only the faintest resemblance to the volume that came their way on the Dempsey-Carpentier and Dempsey-Firpo fights.

The reflection of this condition on the gate is obvious. Dempsey and Carpentier played to more than $1,600,000; Dempsey and Firpo to about $1,200,000 at a top price of $25.50; Dempsey and Tunney to around $1,800,000 in Philadelphia and approximately $2,600,000 in Chicago. The fight tomorrow night, therefore, figures to have the smallest attendance and gate of any major outdoor heavyweight championship since the Dempsey-Willard affair at Toledo in 1919 before the golden era of fistiana had set in.

The event also is likely to be monumental for the fact that it may leave Rickard without a definite profit for the first time in any of his big-caliber productions. He has seats at the stadium for upward of 107,000. He probably will be willing to call it a deal if more than half of them are occupied by the time the fighters enter the ring. If he is to get in the clear at all he will do so on his sale of ringside seats at $40 his claim being that considerably more than 15,000 of these will have occupants.

His determined effort to show a profit is reflected in his sudden decision to underprice the cheapest seats in the field, which are tax free. These, 7,000 all told, will be placed on sale at $3 at four o'clock on the afternoon of the fight.

The typewriter is worth while, if only to translate that funny penwork the business man calls a signature.

Tunney In Shape For Battle With Heeney Thursday

Trainers Say Champion Was Never In Better Condition For Any Fight

WILL TRAVEL IN AIRPLANE

(International News Service)

SPECULATOR, N. Y., July 25. — Unmarked by his six weeks training siege, the heavyweight champion of the world is ready to answer the bell in defense of his title. For Gene Tunney, in the best condition that any of his trainers have ever seen him, has completed his work for the battle with Tom Heeney tomorrow evening, and has nothing to do now but weigh in for the affair and wend his way into the ring.

However, he first must travel to New York City to do the weighing in and the defending of his crown, and that one item has caused more columns of copy this past ten days than the presidential campaign has been getting. Gene decided long ago that he would fly to New York, and Tex Rickard didn't want him to. But Gene is going to fly.

All the arrangements have been made for the flight from this little village to New York, and this afternoon a dual motored Sikorsky amphibian plane will leave Curtis field, New York for Speculator. The aircraft is expected here late in the afternoon and will land on Lake Pleasant, the waters of which touch the Tunney camp. It will be anchored here overnight and tomorrow morning the trip to New York will start.

The present plans are to have the plane leave here in time to reach New York by noon. An automobile, with motorcycle police escort, will whisk him to the Garden, where the official weighing in ceremony is due to take place.

Rickard To Allow Tunney Flight To New York Thursday

Promoter Backs Down On Injunction Plans Rather Than Spoil Flight

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, July 25.—Faced with the champion's threat to remain in Speculator, N. Y., on the day of the big fight, if interfered with in any way, Tex Rickard backed down on his announced intention to obtain an injunction restraining Gene Tunney from coming to the Heeney fight by airplane. The promoter, through his secretary, made known his change of front by declaring that he had sent a telegram to Tunney, informing him that he might come to the fight by any means he chose. Tunney already has announced his plans for flying down from his camp in a Sikorsky amphibian plane, which will take off from the waters of Lake Pleasant the morning of the contest and land in the Hudson river some two hours later.

Heeney Awaiting Bout With Tunney, Takes Boat Ride

Heeney Spends Time On Boat Until Thursday Afternoon, Then Must Weigh In

IS CONFIDENT OF PUTTING UP FIGHT

(International News Service)

FAIRHAVEN, N. J., July 25—Somewhere out in the wide reaches of the Shrewsbury river which winds from the Atlantic back through the picturesque Jersey shore, Tom Heeney is floating around on a small yacht that will be his home until he docks early tomorrow afternoon at the foot of West Forty Second street, New York, and makes a taxicab dash to Madison Square Garden for the weighing in ceremony.

The sturdy Gisborne gladiator made his farewell public appearance here late yesterday afternoon. Following a good sweat in th old Rumson farm barn, induced by fifteen minutes of rope skipping, light bag punching and shadow boxing, Tom held his final reception.

"I'll do my best as I have always tried to do here in a country where I have been treated most kindly," the old hard rock said simply. "Tunney is a good fighter. I hope to beat him. I can't say how or whether the bout will go the limit. If I can't win I hope to lose like a sportsman."

Trainer Jimmy Hennessey is Heeney's only camp companion on the boat today. Early tomorrow morning Heeney will gather up what belongings he needs for the trip to New York and will embark on the speed boat, Chrissie, owned by Chris Smith, famous builder of racing craft.

Heeney predicted he would weigh about 198 at two o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Plane To Carry Tunney To Fight

(International News Service)

CURTISS FIELD, N. Y., July 25.—The Daul-Motored Sikorsky amphibian in which Gene Tunney will come to New York tomorrow from his training camp, will leave here this afternoon for Speculator, N. Y., where the camp is situated.

The plane will be piloted by Bill Winston, of the Curtis flying service. C. V. Bobb, millionaire sportsman and friend of Tunney and a mechanic will ride as passengers.

The champion will land in the plane about noon tomorrow, either at the Battery or 86th street, New York City.

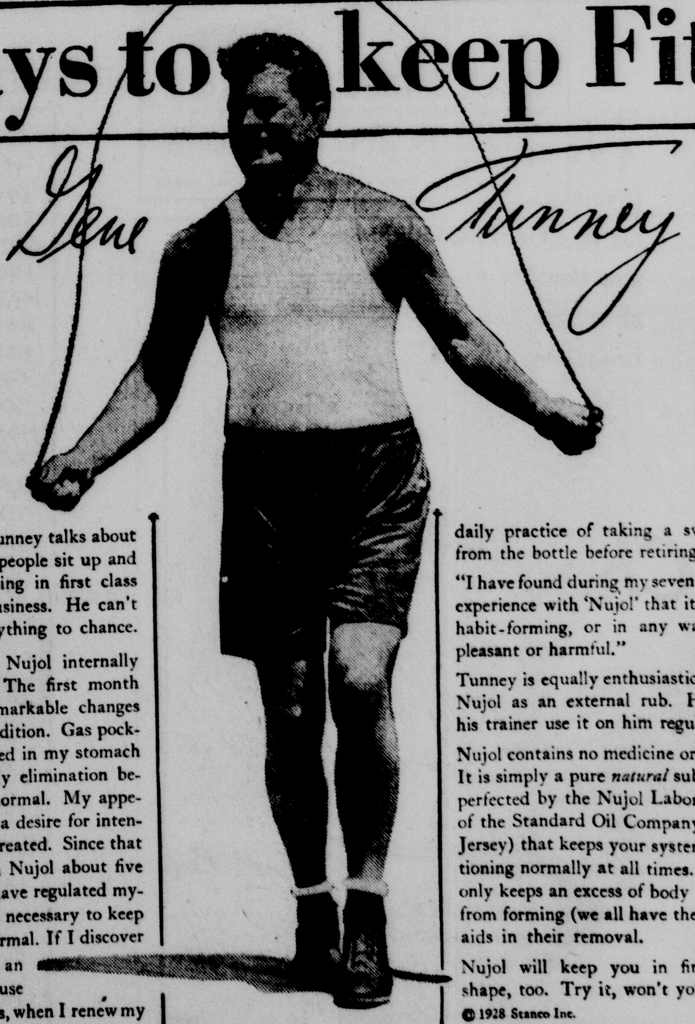
Ways to keep Fit

By Gene Tunney



WHEN Gene Tunney talks about keeping fit, people sit up and take notice. Keeping in first class condition is his business. He can't afford to leave anything to chance.

"I started taking Nujol internally seven years ago. The first month Nujol brought remarkable changes in my physical condition. Gas pockets no longer formed in my stomach and intestines. My elimination became active and normal. My appetite increased and a desire for intensive training was created. Since that time I have taken Nujol about five nights a week. I have regulated myself to the amount necessary to keep my elimination normal. If I discover that I have taken an excess I stop its use for a couple of days, when I renew my daily practice of taking a swallow from the bottle before retiring.

"I have found during my seven years' experience with 'Nujol' that it is not habit-forming, or in any way unpleasant or harmful."

Tunney is equally enthusiastic about Nujol as an external rub. He has his trainer use it on him regularly.

Nujol contains no medicine or drugs. It is simply a pure natural substance perfected by the Nujol Laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey) that keeps your system functioning normally at all times. It not only keeps an excess of body poisons from forming (we all have them) but aids in their removal.

Nujol will keep you in first-class shape, too. Try it, won't you?

Cardinals Are Hitting Timely

Extra Base Blows By Cardinals Prove Aid In Pennant Dash Is Seen

YANKEES AGAIN DEFEAT BOSTON

By LES CONKLIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, July 25.—Extra base hitting is keeping the St. Louis Cardinals at the head of the National League pack. Sunny Jim Bottomley, Chick Hafey and George Harper are the club's leading home run artists. Four-bagger clouts by Bottomley and Hafey gave Wee Willie Sherdel a 2 to 1 decision over Jess Petty, Brooklyn southpaw, when the Cards opened their eastern invasion yesterday. The Red Birds are now four games in front of the Cubs.

Bottomley's homer give him a total of 21 for the season, one less than that of the league leader, Hack Wilson. Hafey's was his fifteenth and his sixth in three weeks. He has been hitting at a .500 clip in that time.

Reds Down Phillies.

A home run by Master Melvin Ott with two on base was the deciding blow in New York's 6 to 3 win over Pittsburgh. Benton chalked up his sixteenth victory.

With the elongated and erudite Eppa Jeppa Alpha Omega Rixey yielding but six hits and his infielders clicking off four double plays, the Reds breezed home to a 5 to 1 triumph over the Phils.

Jack Russell, Boston pitcher, was just congratulating himself on beating the Yankees when the champions knocked him off the mound in the ninth, scored four runs and beat the Red Sox 5 to 3. Babe Ruth hit three singles.

Other teams did not play.

RUTTMAN FAILS TO MAKE WEIGHT

Article He Signed Means No More Than "Scrap Of Paper" To Him

Eddie Ruttman, Akron, cannot fight at the Jolly bowl anymore unless he places a big forfeit for weight, according to Ed Fritz, the matchmaker.

"Suey Welsh, his manager, signed the articles, calling for 131 pounds and posted a forfeit of $15 for weight" said Fritz.

"When Ruttman weighed in he toppled the beam and weighed 135 pounds and I immediately sought another fighter.

"The commissioner, Mike Kane, told Joe Boychan, he could have Ruttman's forfeit.

"Boychan refused to take the forfeit and asked that Ruttman not be taken from the card.

Ruttman Loses.

"'I can beat him if he weighs a ton but he ought to honor his agreement,'" said Boychan.

When the weights were announced the fans did not like it but as Boychan made Ruttman "like it" they were satisfied.

Ruttman fractured his second finger during the bout. Efforts are being made to use Boychan on the next card.

"There are some managers who would not break their word for any amount of money but the fighters won't listen to them.

"This is why Ruttman came in overweight. He probably realized it would be difficult to make a 'last minute' substitution" said the matchmaker. He put me in the middle, but he's out now unless he changes his tactics."

The West Pittsburg Garlands hung a 12 to 1 defeat on the Mahonings last night in an American section Twilight league game played at the West Pittsburg field.

So This Is Amsterdam?

By Feg Murray

Amsterdam, imposing capital of picturesque Holland, with its population approaching 750,000, now becomes the sports center of the universe, as hundreds of athletes and thousands of spectators gather there from all over the world for the ninth Olympic games. The prosperous city on the Amstel is interesting for many things, one of which is the fact that originally the site was ntohing more than a peat bog and its present foundations are secured by long piles resembling huge telegraph poles driven into the clay subsoil. The royal palace alone is built on 13,659 piles!

In 1204 Giesebrecht II built his castle at the Dam, then the center of a tiny fishing hamlet held in fee by the lords of Amstel and the bishops of Utrecht. The name "Amsterdam" is derived from the two words Amstel and Dam. The city is at present a network of canals, making it a veritable "Venice of the North", and each of these canals marks the line of the city walls at different stages of its development. It is quite interesting to watch the huge barges loaded with various products being propelled along the "grachts" by one solitary man with the aid of a 30-foot pole.

Amsterdam was for many years a refuge place for the Jews, and now the Jewish quarter is one of the most densely populated residential areas in the whole of Europe. It was in that section that the philosopher Spinoza was born, and there Rembrandt, one of the greatest of all painters, spent many of his happiest days. The Jews have developed the art of diamond cutting and polishing to its highest form and have made Amsterdam one of the centers of that industry.

Everybody rides a bicycle in Amsterdam, everybody smokes, even the children, and there is a "cinema" to every ten people, so it seems that the American Olympic team will find much of interest in this delightful city.

FEG MURRAY SAYS

Adapted from a story in an English magazine:

A race-track follower who had had a bad day at Empire City was walking disconsolately along the street. He was stopped by a woman in a fortune teller's booth in a small doorway.

"Tell your fortune, sir?" she said.

"How much?" he asked.

"Only a quarter," she replied.

"That's exactly it," he growled, and walked on.

SORDS POINTS

Young Stars Shining Under Handicaps

By JACK SORDS,
Sports Cartoonist-Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

Young Jimmy Foxx, one of the outstanding players of the major league season, is destined to join the list of "labored in vain" stars, because of the undiminished supremacy of the New York Yankees.

Luckily for Jimmy—and possibly for Connie Mack, too—the young man is only 19 and boasts the invulnerable optimism that rides with youth, else he might ponder too much on the fairness of playing like the devil all season just to get into the record books, while others bask in the glory and glitter of a world's series.

The best part about Jimmy is that his greatness doesn't worry him. Offhand he seems to be the type that will never take to larger hats, prima donna temperament and secretaries no matter how high his fame soars.

He's one of the best all-around ball players unearthed in years, having caught, played third and first in tiptop style for Connie this season—his first year as a regular.

And Melvin Ott is the Jimmy Foxx of the Giants. He, too, has labored earnestly and brilliantly at infield and outfield posts.

Beaver Falls To Play New Castle

Rival Teams In O. & P. Clash At Centennial Field

GAME TO START AT 6:15 P. M. THURSDAY

Eddie Harvey and his fightin' aggregation from Beaver Falls is coming to New Castle to play the Centennials in an O. & P. loop tilt Thursday in a twilight game, and as the Beaver valley clique is holding down a first division berth in the circuit and New Castle is nigh the cellar, it appears as though a good game is in prospect.

During the first half of the O. & P. League season, which was captured by the New Castle team, the Beaver Falls team invariably lost to the Centennials, but since the second half opened things have been different.

Gazing Toward Top

Starting off with a defeat in a 21-inning game by Akron, New Castle lost twice to the Grays, once here and again at Akron, but in the O. & P. loop are trying to perk their heads into the first rung of the ladder.

All of the stars, Johnny Pearson, pitcher; Big McGinley of Beaver Falls, Red Leonard, Ken Hogan, Mosely and McCullough, will be in the line-up when the umpire shouts "play ball" at 6:15 p. m.

Fistic Card For Monday Complete

Firpo Doesn't Care If Perotta Does Have Weight Advantage

"Don't let weight bother you. Tell Perotta to weigh 156 and I'll take him," said Henry (Young) Firpo to Promoter Bill Jolly last night in discussing the bout here Monday. The commission allows a disparity of ten pounds, so the match has been made. The rest of the card which augurs of action follows:

Joe Boychan, Newark vs. Johnny Dunn, Wilkes-Barre, who beat Phil Zwick and has fought Dick O'Leary four times, six rounds at 126.

Louie Severio, Meadville, 129 pounder who knocked out Johnny Slate vs. Bobby Belford who fought a great fight with Billy Wallace, 6 rounds at 129.

Spike Henderson and Sandy Taylor, Middleweights of Cleveland and Brooklyn, four rounds and Roy Minteer, South Side, vs. Terry McManus, Pittsburgh, four sessions at 115 pounds.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 25.—A gas mask he used while in the army during the World War had proved today to be of more value than a mere relic to George Percy, sales manager of the Farmers' Co-operative Dairy Association.

When fumes from a defective ammonia tank chased all persons from the association's building here yesterday, Percy donned the gas mask, entered the building and shut off the valve leading to the tank.

Perotta Training Hard For Firpo

Former Local Middleweight Hopes To Put K. O. On Firpo

HAS WON MANY FIGHTS AT ERIE

ERIE, Pa., July 25.—George Perotta, the husky middleweight, who totes one of the most powerful punches in the ring, is training like a trojan for his 10-round bout with Young Firpo, Louisville, at New Castle, next Monday night. Perotta has been going good since his arrival here and he wants to beat Firpo and re-establish himself as a favorite with his hometown followers.

Perotta knocked out Red Jadabird and Firpo outpointed the Swede. Perotta whipped Red at Erie and Firpo flipped Jadabird at New Castle. Firpo also stopped Joe Midway and walloped Joe O'Malley the "iron man" in the Jolly bowl and Perotta hopes to lift a left hook to Firpo's midriff that will stop him cold.

"I'm going back to my home town to show the folk back there that my 20 or more victories have placed me ahead in the fight game. I'll try to stop Firpo as quick as possible," said Perotta. It is said that Jimmie Dunn of Cleveland is giving all his personal attention to Firpo in the hope of installing the boy who beat good boys here as New Castle's best drawing card.

Freedom is relative, and the most daring never follow that impulse to swat a fly on the butter.

Men Eating Candy, Omitting Cigarettes; Women Smoke More

(International News Service)

LONDON, July 25.—Men are eating more candy and smoking less. Women are smoking more and eating fewer candies.

There is a marked change in the habits of men and women was revealed at the annual Chocolate and Confectionery Exhibition here, when exhibitors bemoaned the fact that the boyish silhouette among women does not encourage the eating of sweetmeats.

"Women and girls are now eating fewer candies compared with the days before it became fashionable. "It is not that they do not like candy just as much, but they have an idea it will make them fat. The money they once spent on candy they now spend on cigarettes.

"On the other hand, the candy habit acquired by many men during the world war has survived, and we find the male is a large purchaser of sweetmeats nowadays. Consequently he is smoking less."

Language Study Is More Beneficial Than Cross Words

(International News Service)

LOS ANGELES, July 25.—Crossword puzzles, the ask-me-another game, tick-tack-toe and other great American pastimes are outclassed as mental stimulants by the study of oreign languages.

This on the authority of Prof. F. H. Reinsch, president of the Modern Foreign Language association of Southern California. Reinsch has been conducting an investigation to determine the value of foreign language study at the request of William J. Cooper, state superintendent of schools.

A declension a day, it appears, keeps the doldrums away, according to Reinsch, who finds that foreign language study promotes "mental discipline, trains minds and inculates habits of thoroughness and exactness in mental work."

And besides, Reinsch has discovered that knowledge of a foreign language permits communications directly with the people who speak it. Thus permitting understanding of the subtleties expressed by the head waiter when ham and eggs are ordered in a French restaurant.

The Southern California Language association will act in certain definite recommendations prepared by its special committee for the purpose of aiding the California Curriculum commission to adjust, enrich and improve the curricula of Junior colleges and high schools.

If you praise the world, you are a Pollyanna; if you mention its faults, you are a swell-headed cynic; if you merely use discretion, you are dumb.

No wonder Dixie Democrats are afraid of the Tammany tiger. The ones they are accustomed to are blind.

Pastor Writes From England

New Wilmington Minister Tells Of Experiences In His Tour Abroad

REV. J. R. NEALE

Rev. J. R. Neale, pastor of the United Presbyterian church at New Wilmington, who is now on a tour of Europe, has written the following interesting letter to friends at New Wilmington, of some of his observations in England.

London, England, July 9th, 1928.

Dear Friends:

Amidst the very busy schedule laid out for the members of the American Seminar, just these few lines, as my first report. The two weeks since I left home have been full of unique experiences for a common person like me. We arrived on schedule in Southampton, June 29th, and motored to the historic city of Salisbury, where we spent the night. This is one of the very interesting historic centers of England, and incidentally a section of rare charm and beauty. Passing through this section, as we did, by Char-a-banc of bus, we were privileged to observe rural southern England, as we could not have done by rail. The country through here is rolling, and richly decorated with apparently prosperous farms, flourishing with fields of wheat, gardens of vegetables and flowers, and some of as fine stock as I have ever seen anywhere in America. One thing I can say for the farmer of England so far as I have observed, he keeps no scrub stock of any kind, and farms in the most up-to-date fashion. I hope yet before leaving England to visit some of the farmers of England in their own homes and endeavor to see for myself something of their manner of life, and habits of thought.

I was greatly interested in Salisbury, especially because of its Cathedral. It is one of the finest of England, dating back to the sixteenth century or earlier. We spent the night in Salisbury, and were pleased to discover that in the "Old George" Hotel where some of us were stopping there was also the distinguished, or shall we say notorious guest, Sinclair Lewis. We made the discovery by chance and four of us were invited to have a chat with him in his room. It was a really pleasant evening, and gave some of us an opportunity to air our views, first hand, concerning some of his literary productions particularly, "Elmer Gantry." Three of us were ministers, and strange to say, he seemed pleased that we were, at all, interested in him, following the strangely popular caricature of a representative preacher. My impression from this visit is that he wrote this book as well as all his other books for financial gain, without regard for his own private views.

The following morning, we continued our journey toward London, stopping at Windsor Castle, Eaton College, and Stoke Poges. The former place as you may remember is the retreat of the King and Queen of England. They had just gone from the Castle, not knowing, I suppose, that I was coming. This Castle is a place of rare magnificence. Royalty is ingrained in every stone and furnishing of the place. I was interested likewise in Eaton College, perhaps the most exclusive and most distinguished college of all the Realm. It was upon the athletic fields of Eaton, one has remarked, that the battle of Waterloo was won. But I think the most interesting of all these places was the quiet little Country Church and Churchyard of Stoke Poges, the scene of Gray's "Elegy." There are still the same old grave stones, the same yew trees in whose shade, the Poet must have sat and mused. Near by in an open field where still, at the eventide the lowing herd winds slowly o'er the lea. What a contrast this place to the royal grandeur of Windsor, or the classic atmosphere of Eaton.

One of the well-known stanzas of the "Elegy kept ringing through my ears throughout the remainder of the day, as we hurried on to the city of London:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth ere gave Await alike the inevitable hour,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave."

We arrived in Lindon about six o'clock in the evening, and found our places of abode for the sojourn of three weeks here. In the meantime we have been listening every day to such notables as Lord Astor, Arthur Greenwood M. P. and only today had tea with Sir Ramsey McDonald, after which he spoke to us, likewise his colleague, Mr. Arthur Henderson M. P. I just accidentally met at dinner a few evenings ago Gilbert Chesterton, having only a brief visit with him. Well I am not certain whether I can stand all this high-brow stuff or not. I almost feel at times like Alice in Wonderland, but am really an insight into the problems of our English relatives which is greatly increasing my respect and sympathy for them. Incidentally, the Kellogg Peace Proposal is meeting with great approval and applause everywhere here. I feel, that while the present Government is slow to accept it, yet eventually, it cannot resist the popular demand.

If I can find another moment along the way, I may continue this rather scattering and informal line at another time.

J. RALPH NEALE.

JAIL FUGITIVES SOUGHT BY U. S.

C. Horner.

The warning to be on the look-out for the two men has been broadcast to all cities in Pennsylvania.

ASKS RECEIVER FOR HUSBAND

Cleveland Wife Sues To Protect $380 She Says Was Loan

CLEVELAND, O., July 25.—The courts have been asked to appoint receivers for mortgage companies, discount companies, banks, factories and almost every other kind of business, but the limit in receivership actions was almost reached yesterday when a wife asked common pleas court to appoint a receiver to protect a loan she had made to her husband.

Mrs. Eleanor Horn, 1341 Addison road N. E., in an action filed against her husband George, asked that a receiver be appointed for the Addison Square Electric Co., 1309 Addison road, which he owns.

Not having heard from her husband for more than a week, Mrs. Addison indicated in her action that she was worried about a "loan" of $380 she declares she made him a short time ago. She said he disappeared July 18 and that she had not heard from him since. Mrs. Horn declined last night to make any further comment on her action.

Fishermen Swear Off Tioga Forest "Eels"

HARRISBURG, July 25.—Landing a rattlesnake instead of an eel was the experience of two fishermen while fishing recently in Darling run on the Tioga state forest.

They saw an "eel" squirming around in a shallow pool and after considerable difficulty succeeded in landing it. They were "surprised" to find that the landing net contained a young rattlesnake with three rattles instead of an eel.

In reciting their experience to Forest Ranger E. N. Jenckes, they were emphatic in the declaration that in the future they would confine their fishing to brook trout.

A young German shipped himself into this country in a packing box marked "Household Goods" and they are going to let him stay, probably figuring that he'll be more useful than ornamental.

Many Tragic Stories Heard From Police Court Prisoners

To a reporter, morning police court always opens with expectancy, because he never knows what sort of a story might be brought up from the cells. Of course, most of the jail visitors are drunks; but it is the story behind the story; the reason why they got drunk that is interesting.

Ed's mother cried for her son this morning: cried because he was drunk: and cried with joy because Mayor William H. Gillespie, after a few kind words and a promise from Ed not to do it again, released him.

And as it was Ed's mother her face like wrinkled parchment, dressed in a sleezy dress, white hair awry and eyes red, who released the story behind the story to the Chief of Police and this reporter.

For two years, Ed had fought the booze habit. For two years he had been a respectable citizen: he had never committed the slightest misdemeanor. And during that time, like most young men, Ed got married.

But recently Ed's wife had deserted him: she ran away with another man. For a while Ed mooned about his mother's home. Finally he jumped into his car, took his three year old child with him, and started out—to forget it all.

When he was picked up this morning at about three o'clock, he was trying to start his car: to get home.

Now Ed appreciates his mother. Arm in arm they started out from the police court: out to a garage to get Ed's car: and out into the dawn of a new era.

Olympic Athletes Show Fine Form

American Olympic Coaches Very Well Pleased With Showing Of Candidates

(International News Service)

AMSTERDAM, July 25.—American coaches were jubilant today over the many exhibitions of excellent form shown by the American Olympic Athletes in the workouts here.

Bud Houser, Los Angeles dentist and double winner in the 1924 Olympic games, celebrated his selection as flag-bearer of the American cortege in the opening exercises next Saturday by hurling the discus 130 feet 2 inches. This mark was more than three feet beyond the official world's record held by Glenn Hartanft.

Johnny Weissmuller, the other American dual winner in the 1924 games, cut his own record time for the 100 meter free-style swim. He covered the distance in 57 4-5 seconds, thereby beating his Olympic record of 59 seconds.

SON CONFESSES HE KILLED FOUR

EDMONTON, Alta., July 25.—Vernon Booher, 22, farmer's son of Mannville, Alberta, has confessed, the police said today, that he killed his mother, his older brother and two hired men on his father's farm July 9.

The youth was quoted as saying he shot his mother and brother because of "mother and Fred's constant nagging of me about a girl I am crazy about. I had it planned for some time."

The hired men, according to the police, were slain when they approached the house after the first killings.

"I don't care if I am hanged tomorrow," the police quoted Booher as saying. "I want to get it over with and I don't want my father and sisters to have to appear in court."

The father and sisters were absent from the farm at the time of the slayings.

There's a bright side. The cynical, hard-boiled flapper never will be anybody's mother-in-law.

The highest praise we can think of is that Mussolini doubtless would look important in pajamas.
